

ORDER SPECIAL ELECTIONS FOR STATE SENATOR

Adams County was ordered this morning to hold a special election on November 6, the general election day, to elect a state senator to serve out the term of Atty. Donald P. McPherson Jr., who resigned last May 31 to accept a position on the Interstate Commerce Commission.

A similar notice was being served on Franklin County, the other member of the 33rd state senatorial district.

The "writ of election" was handed to Commissioners' Clerk Clarence C. Smith this morning by Roy E. Furman, Lieut. Governor and president of the State Senate.

The two major parties will have to nominate men for the special election in time to get the names on the ballots in November.

Can Select Nominees

Furman told Smith this morning there is nothing to prevent the men nominated by the parties at their spring primaries—Douglas Elliott by the Republicans and Charles M. McGee by the Democrats—from being nominated for the special election.

Whoever is elected in the special balloting next November, he will have a short term as the successor to Senator McPherson.

The election will be held November 6 but the winner of the election could not be certified before November 16 because of the official count and the military ballots so that the senator-elect would have only two weeks to serve in the term which expires November 30.

Unless the Senate is in session—and it won't be unless a special session of the legislature is called in the meantime—he cannot be sworn in as a senator and his salary will not begin until he is sworn in.

As county officials saw it today, the "lucky" man will be state senator in name only for two weeks—with no salary attached.

Genoa Weeps
Over Lost Ship

GENOA, Italy (AP)—"When a ship like this sinks, all the city weeps." Those words from a gray-bearded sea veteran today expressed the feeling of this port city at the loss of the Italian luxury liner Andrea Doria off Nantucket.

The Andrea Doria was built in Genoa and this was her home port. Throughout yesterday and last night hundreds of wives, children and other relatives of crew members crowded around the office of the Italian Line for news of the ship and rescue operations.

"It's as though a piece of Genoa had been lost," said one newspaperman, "as though an entire quarter had been uprooted."

Expressions of sorrow came from the Italian government and the Vatican. U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce, now on a Mediterranean cruise, cabled her deepest sympathies.

BOY RUNS INTO TRUCK; INJURED

Robert Zentz, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Zentz, Gettysburg R. 3, suffered severe lacerations of his right leg at 11 o'clock this morning when he ran into a truck in front of the A and P Store on Baltimore St.

The youngster was in the A and P Store with his mother and in some unknown manner slipped away and ran out the front door. Then he started to cross the street. He darted between two parked cars and ran into the right front fender of a Pensupreme Dairy Co. delivery truck, driven by Edward Singley, of Bendersville.

Singley made an effort to miss the youngster and swerved to the left but he was unable to avoid the boy. The fender struck the youth and knocked him to the pavement and the right rear wheel "chewed" off portions of the fleshy part of the right leg.

The Gettysburg Fire-Department's rescue truck was summoned and the youth removed to the Warner Hospital.

Held For Assault;
Fined For Misconduct

William E. Rudisill, R. 3, charged with assault and battery and disorderly conduct, posted a $500 bond before Justice of the Peace John H. Bashore for the August term of court. Rudisill pleaded guilty to the disorderly conduct charge and paid a ten-dollar fine and costs. His wife, Margaret M. Rudisill, filed the assault and battery charges and Rudisill's sister-in-law, Mary G. Staub, Orrtanna R. 1, charged him with disorderly conduct.

DEFER ACTION
ON RESIGNATION
OF W. C. JESTER

The board of directors of the South Mountain Fair Association Thursday evening took no action on the resignation of W. Clayton Jester as executive director of the 1956 fair but directed the fair president, M. E. Knouse, to find a temporary replacement for Mr. Jester until he is able to return and resume all or part of his fair responsibilities.

Mr. Jester had offered his resignation early this week because of the critical illness of his only son, William, a patient in Georgetown Hospital, Washington, D. C.

President Knouse presided at Thursday's meeting which was held in the office building at the fair grounds.

The directors were informed that the Fair committee has contracted for the erection of 1,500 extra seats at the horse show ring where the Black Diamond Ranch Rodeo will be presented afternoons and evenings of fair week which opens Tuesday, September 4, and ends Saturday, September 8.

The centering of the entertainment program in the horse show ring will free the big auditorium for other uses and it now is tentatively to be used for commercial displays, exhibits of fruit growers and processors and concession space.

If the fruit display and that of the processors is moved into the auditorium building the display space they formerly used in other buildings will be freed either for commercial space or for the transfer of other exhibits which in turn would make other space available for badly needed extra space for business firms who wish to place booths at the fair.

The directors also discussed plans for the special Wednesday feature on fair week — the Antique Auto show display — which was initiated with a great deal of success last year. Instead of giving each old auto exhibitor a ribbon this year there will be a small metal plate to add to the growing collections of many of the antique auto owners.

The directors will meet next on August 30 in a joint session with the Fair committee.

Survivors Of Sea Disaster
Tell Of Heroic Rescue Work

NEW YORK (AP)—The saga of a thrillingly swift sea rescue is unfolding as survivors of the Andrea Doria disaster reach home.

The crippled motor ship Stockholm, carrying 533 persons from the Italian liner, was due here today.

The deluxe, 30,000-ton Andrea Doria sank yesterday some 11 hours after a collision with the 12,600-ton Stockholm in heavy fog off the Massachusetts coast.

At least seven persons were reported dead, and hundreds were injured in the nighttime collision. But the immense rescue operation was believed to have accounted for every one of the 1,79 persons aboard the Andrea Doria.

Had 40-Foot Hole

The Andrea Doria went down with a 40-foot slash in her starboard (right) forward side. The Italian liner was steaming back to New York from the Mediterranean, while the Stockholm was outbound headed for Copenhagen.

Waterfront sources here, commenting on the smaller ship's survival, noted that the Stockholm's prow was built four to eight feet thick to slice through northern ice packs during winter runs.

The Andrea Doria, which made her maiden voyage in 1953, had been considered almost unsinkable. She had the latest safety locks designed to make her compartments watertight.

Both Had Radar

Both vessels were equipped with radar.

The master of the Andrea Doria, Capt. Piero Calamai, arrived last night aboard the American destroyer escort Edward H. Allen, which brought in 76 crew survivors.

Calamai, haggard and worn, read a statement which shed no light on the cause of the collision. He said in part:

"As you know, the Andrea Doria was hit last night by the Swedish ship Stockholm. . . .

"We have been helped with brilliance by the U.S. Army, Navy, Coast Guard, the Ile de France, the Cape Ann and the Stockholm. . . .

Radar In Operation

A crewman of the Andrea Doria said he saw the vessel's radar screen in operation after the collision.

Deck Cadet John Conte told newsmen he was in a lounge when the collision occurred. He said he reported immediately to the bridge. Later, he said, he glanced at the radar screen and could see the Stockholm. He estimated that the vessels were about four miles apart at that time.

Conte said he heard no alarm prior to the crash.

The tabulation of survivors arriving here yesterday and last night:

The Ile de France, 758; United Fruit freighter Cape Ann, 175; the military transport William H. Thomas, 158; the Edward H. Allen, 76, and the destroyer escort Robert Hopkins, 1.

Emotional Scenes

The scenes at docksides as the rescue ships came in were emotional mixtures of exaltation, relief, tears, chatter, smiles and pain.

Police held back throngs of friends and relatives as amoultances raced in and out of the areas with the seriously injured. Red Cross stations handed out

Alpha Firemen Win
First Prize Again

The Alpha Fire Company, Littlestown, was awarded first prize of $75, for equipment, marching unit and unit in a parade featuring the annual benefit carnival of Pleasant Hill Fire Company, near Hanover, Thursday night.

Second honors went to the marching unit and equipment of Hanover Fire Department, accompanied by the Drum and Bugle Corps of Harold H. Bair Post 14, American Legion. The prize was $40.

Other winners were: Best appearing fire-fighting apparatus, McSherrytown Fire Company, $15; apparatus coming the longest distance, Reisterstown, Md., $15, and antique cars, first, Norman Becker, $15, and second, Dr. Mark L. Redding, $10. Both are from Hanover.

LOCAL JAYCEES
GIVEN HONORS;
PLAN PROJECTS

Honors received by the Gettysburg Junior Chamber of Commerce and some of its members were reported at a dinner meeting of the local unit Thursday evening at which reports on recent and future activities were presented. President Harold S. Ecker presided at the meeting which was held at Earle's Restaurant on the Harrisburg Rd.

In a report on the state board of directors' meeting last weekend at Greensburg it was disclosed that a Founders' plaque was awarded to the Gettysburg Jaycees as sponsors of the Waynesboro unit during the term in which Fred Attinger served as extension chairman. The Greensburg report was given by Thomas Metz.

Attinger has been honored by appointment as chairman of the agriculture committee of the state Jaycees, Metz said.

Stores Busy As
Sale Days Open

Gettysburg was crowded with shoppers this morning as throngs visited the shopping district to take advantage of bargains being offered for Gettysburg Sale Days, today and Saturday.

Fifty-four local merchants, their places of business marked by the black and gold Sale Days banners, are participating in the sales event which gave promise today of being one of the most successful ever held here.

Drawings for store prizes will take place Saturday evening and the grand prize drawings will be made in Lincoln Square at 9 p.m. Names of winners of all prizes will be broadcast over WGCT Sunday evening at 9 o'clock by the advertising department of The Gettysburg Times.

YORK FIRM IS LOW BIDDER FOR
2 DORMITORIES

With a low bid of $564,167, A. B. Seifert and Son, York, was in line today to receive the contract to erect two men's dormitories on the Gettysburg College campus.

Nine bidders submitted offers when bids were opened publicly in the administration offices in Glatfelter Hall Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There was a spread of $48,000 between the high and low offers.

The bids were opened by the Buildings and Grounds Committee and the contract will be awarded "very soon" after approval by the Executive Committee of the board which is headed by John S. Rice of Gettysburg who took part in the opening of the bids.

The low bidder's representative answered in the affirmative when Chairman Rice asked him if he is in position to start work in the very near future. The board of trustees hopes to have the new dormitories ready to use in September, 1957.

To Be Open Quadrangle

The new buildings will be almost identical with the Charles M. A. Stine Hall which was placed in use in January of this year. That building cost about $250,000 under a contract awarded a year and a half ago. Ground for Stine Hall was broken in February, 1955. Members of the college board of trustees seemed pleased Thursday afternoon with the bid for the new structures and a little surprised at how close they came to the cost of Stine Hall.

The new dormitories will be erected on what used to be Nixon Field and with Stine Hall will form an open quadrangle "of Colonial design in keeping with the general campus planning."

Each of the new dorms will house 132 men in 78 double rooms and the three new dormitories will increase by nearly 400 the total dormitory accommodations at the college.

The two new residence halls are being financed through the Federal Housing and Finance agency under a bond issue plan which will be paid off out of room rents over a period of years.

J. Alfred Hamm, York, is the architect.

Other Bidders

Stine Hall was built by O. H. Hostetter, Hanover. That firm was not a bidder Thursday.

The base bids submitted by the eight other contracting firms sought the job follow: I Reindorf

U. S. MOVES TO GET PENALTIES
FROM 2 FARMERS

A United States Middle District judgment against two Adams County farmers who are alleged to have marketed surplus 1954 wheat and failed to pay government-imposed penalties was paced on record in the office of Prothonotary Herbert W. Miller here today.

The defendants are W. F. and J. E. Sanders, Gettysburg R. 3.

The judgment against them is for $184.80 plus costs of $47.60.

The sheet of papers received today from officials of the U. S. Middle District court in the case transferred the whole record here so that a default judgment, awarded in the federal court, could be placed on record against the Sanders brothers here.

The record shows that the case was handled by U. S. Attorney J. Julius Levy for the Middle District under provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938.

First Local Case

It was believed today to be the first case of its kind to be placed on record against any Adams County farmer. The civil action was brought against the pair to collect penalties provided in the 1938 act and its amendments.

The record shows that the county Agricultural and Adjustment committee established a wheat acreage allotment of 8 acres for the Sanders farm for harvest in 1954. The committee found that the defendants "planted" 19 acres of wheat which meant there was an excess of 11 acres. They found that normal yield there was 15 bushels to the acre so that there was "a farm marketing excess of wheat of 165 bushels."

The Sanders were given notice of their marketing quota, the amount of their excess and were informed of their rights to ask for an adjustment and review but the record says they failed to ask for either.

The parity price of wheat as of May 1, 1954 was $2.50, the case record states and "under the provisions of the act the rate of penalty applicable to the 1954 crop of wheat is $1.12." The penalty was determined to be $184.80 on that basis.

Get Default Judgment

The Sanders were "required to pay" the penalties by January 31, 1955 "but they have failed and refused to pay the penalty or any

NEED FOR MORE
HOSPITAL FUNDS
CITED AT DINNER

The Warner hospital was firmly established as Adams county's "Number One community enterprise" and responsibility, Thursday evening, when representatives of the bar and bankers associations and the medical society of the county met with officers and directors of the hospital and officers of its women's auxiliary at a dinner meeting at Hotel Gettysburg.

Describing the meeting as a "fact-finding" session, Wilbur A. Bankert, Littlestown, first vice president of the hospital, said it was necessary that the facilities of the institution be expanded to fulfill the needs of the area it serves.

In the program in which Philip Dunn, CPA, the auditor of the hospital; Henry M. Scharf, chairman of the finance committee, and Dr. R. W. Gifford, public relations chairman of the medical society participated, the financial and statistical history of the hospital was developed and the steps that are necessary to provide adequate hospital facilities for the county in the future were described.

Services Are Expanded

The program revealed the manner in which the resources of the institution have been husbanded so as to be prepared to expand its services. It also identified clearly the value of the contributions to the letter campaign and the activities of the women's auxiliary.

Matt R. Thompson, Son Of Veteran Who Fought
In Battle Of Gettysburg, And Builder Of The Famous Death Valley Palace, Is Visiting Here

To an engineer less resourceful than Matt Roy Thompson, the building of the fabulous Scotty's Castle in Death Valley would have proved too much of an undertaking. But for Matt, whose father fought at Gettysburg 93 years ago, it was a challenge and the mansion in Death Valley today is a silent testimonial to the California engineer.

Mr. Thompson, Pasadena, Calif., and his wife, who are touring the country, are in Gettysburg this week looking over the area where his father, George Washington Thompson, fought with the 8th Illinois Cavalry. "A man named Jones in that outfit fired the first shot against the Confederat troops," he said.

Matt, who has been a notable construction engineer and appraiser for many years feels that "the building of Scotty's Castle in Death Valley, from 1925 to 1931 was my most interesting assignment."

Started With Romance

It all began with a college romance at Stanford University when he met pretty blonde nee-nan, Bessie Morris Penniman. Her father owned a large ranch and orchard at Walnut Creek east of Oakland. They attended football games together. In the financial panic of 1933 Matt's father, a Tacoma, Wash. real estate man, met with financial reverses. Young Thompson had to leave school. Miss Penniman transferred to Cornell University from where she corresponded regularly with Matt. Later on she met Albert M. Johnson, a wealthy young engineering student, and then the letters to Matt weren't so frequent. Not long afterwards Matt and his bride received the announcement of Bessie's marriage to Johnson.

During the 30 years which followed Matt kept in close touch with the Johnsons meanwhile carving out a more than successful career of his own.

Born In Iowa

Born in Dunlap, Iowa, the son of George Washington Thompson, of Illinois, and Susan Porter, of Ohio, who corresponded as sweethearts while the former fought at Gettysburg, he moved with his family at the age of eleven to Chattanooga, Tenn. Two years later they moved to Tacoma, Wash. where they lived for 13 years. His father, prior to his death in 1898, was an attorney in Morrison, Ill.

Both vessels were equipped with radar. The master of the Andrea Doria, Capt. Piero Calamai, arrived last night aboard the American destroyer escort Edward H. Allen, which brought in 76 crew survivors.

Calamai, haggard and worn, read a statement which shed no light on the cause of the collision. He said in part:

"As you know, the Andrea Doria was hit last night by the Swedish ship Stockholm. . . .

"We have been helped with brilliance by the U.S. Army, Navy, Coast Guard, the Ile de France, the Cape Ann and the Stockholm. . . .

Radar In Operation

A crewman of the Andrea Doria said he saw the vessel's radar screen in operation after the collision.

Deck Cadet John Conte told newsmen he was in a lounge when the collision occurred. He said he reported immediately to the bridge. Later, he said, he glanced at the radar screen and could see the Stockholm. He estimated that the vessels were about four miles apart at that time.

Conte said he heard no alarm prior to the crash.

The tabulation of survivors arriving here yesterday and last night:

The Ile de France, 758; United Fruit freighter Cape Ann, 175; the military transport William H. Thomas, 158; the Edward H. Allen, 76; and the destroyer escort Robert Hopkins, 1.

Emotional Scenes

The scenes at docks as the rescue ships came in were emotional mixtures of exaltation, relief, tears, chatter, smiles and pain.

Police held back throngs of friends and relatives as ambulances raced in and out of the areas with the seriously injured. Red Cross stations handed out

Survivors Of Sea Disaster Tell Of Heroic Rescue Work

NEW YORK (AP)—The saga of a thrillingly swift sea rescue is unfolding as survivors of the Andrea Doria disaster reach home.

The crippled motor ship Stockholm, carrying 533 persons from the Italian liner, was due here today.

The deluxe, 30,000-ton Andrea Doria sank yesterday some 11 hours after a collision with the 12,600-ton Stockholm in heavy fog off the Massachusetts coast.

At least seven persons were reported dead, and hundreds were injured in the nighttime collision. But the immense rescue operation was believed to have accounted for every one of the 1,79 persons aboard the Andrea Doria.

Many Were Sleeping

Many of the Andrea Doria's passengers were sleeping as the liner steamed through the murky night. But many others were dancing or sitting in the lounges and bars.

When the collision came, it was "like an explosion," said actress Ruth Roman. People were slammed from their beds and knocked off their feet.

Said 8-year-old Eric Hill: "I heard crashes, then the boat tipped over. Things crashed up and down. Many people were hurt."

Smoke and some flames swirled through the corridors. Lights went out. Cries and shouts filled the darkness. Bewildered and frightened passengers prayed and groped as they tried to crawl up the steeply sloping decks. Searchlights of rescue ships played on the scene until dawn.

No General Panic

There was no general panic. Crewmen arriving here had nothing but praise for the passengers. Capt. Raoul de Baudean, 53, Franc, described the crash scene as "horrible. . . like being back in the war years."

The Ile de France was the first large vessel to reach the Andrea Doria.

Alpha Firemen Win First Prize Again

The Alpha Fire Company, Littlestown, was awarded first prize of $75, for equipment, marching unit and unit in a parade featuring the annual benefit carnival of Pleasant Hill Fire Company, near Hanover, Thursday night.

Second honors went to the marching unit and equipment of Hanover Fire Department, accompanied by the Drum and Bugle Corps of Harold H. Bair Post 14, American Legion. The prize was $40.

Other winners were: Best appearing fire-fighting apparatus, McSherrytown Fire Company, $15; apparatus coming the longest distance, Reisterstown, Md., $15, and antique cars, first, Norman Becker, $15, and second, Dr. Mark L. Redding, $10. Both are from Hanover.

LOCAL JAYCEES GIVEN HONORS; PLAN PROJECTS

Honors received by the Gettysburg Junior Chamber of Commerce and some of its members were reported at a dinner meeting of the local unit Thursday evening at which reports on recent and future activities were presented. President Harold S. Ecker presided at the meeting which was held at Earle's Restaurant on the Harrisburg Rd.

In a report on the state board of directors' meeting last weekend at Greensburg it was disclosed that a Founders' plaque was awarded to the Gettysburg Jaycees as sponsors of the Waynesboro unit during the term in which Fred Attinger served as extension chairman. The Greensburg report was given by Thomas Metz.

Attinger has been honored by appointment as chairman of the agriculture committee of the state Jaycees, Metz said.

Stores Busy As Sale Days Open

Gettysburg was crowded with shoppers this morning as throngs visited the shopping district to take advantage of bargains being offered for Gettysburg Sale Days, today and Saturday.

Fifty-four local merchants, their places of business marked by the black and gold Sale Days banners, are participating in the sales event which gave promise today of being one of the most successful ever held here.

Drawings for store prizes will take place Saturday evening and the grand prize drawings will be made in Lincoln Square at 9 p.m. Names of winners of all prizes will be broadcast over WGET Sunday evening at 9 o'clock by the advertising department of The Gettysburg Times.

YORK FIRM IS LOW BIDDER FOR 2 DORMITORIES

With a low bid of $364,167, A. B. Seifert and Son, York, was in line today to receive the contract to erect two men's dormitories on the Gettysburg College campus.

Nine bidders submitted offers when bids were opened publicly in the administration offices in Glatfelter Hall Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There was a spread of $48,000 between the high and low offers.

The bids were opened by the Buildings and Grounds Committee and the contract will be awarded "very soon" after approval by the Executive Committee of the board which is headed by John S. Rice of Gettysburg who took part in the opening of the bids.

The low bidder's representative answered in the affirmative when Chairman Rice asked him if he is in position to start work in the very near future. The board of trustees hopes to have the new dormitories ready to use in September, 1957.

To Be Open Quadrangle

The new buildings will be almost identical with the Charles M. A. Stine Hall which was placed in use in January of this year. That building cost about $250,000 under a contract awarded a year and a half ago. Ground for Stine Hall was broken in February, 1955. Members of the college board of trustees seemed pleased Thursday afternoon with the bid for the new structures and a little surprised at how close they came to the cost of Stine Hall.

The new dormitories will be erected on what used to be Nixon Field and with Stine Hall will form an open quadrangle "of Colonial design in keeping with the general campus planning."

Each of the new dorms will house 132 men in 78 double rooms and the three new dormitories will increase by nearly 400 the total dormitory accommodations at the college.

The two new residence halls are being financed through the Federal Housing and Finance agency under a bond issue plan which will be paid off out of room rents over a period of years.

J. Alfred Hamm, York, is the architect.

Stine Hall was built by O. H. Hostetter, Hanover. That firm was not a bidder Thursday.

The base bids submitted by the eight other contracting firms that sought the job follow: I Reindol-

U. S. MOVES TO GET PENALTIES FROM 2 FARMERS

A United States Middle District judgment against two Adams County farmers who are alleged to have marketed surplus 1954 wheat and failed to pay government-imposed penalties was paced on record in the office of Prothonotary Herbert W. Miller here today.

The defendants are W. F. and J. E. Sanders, Gettysburg R. 3.

The judgment against them is for $184.80 plus costs of $47.60.

The sheaf of papers received today from officials of the U. S. Middle District court in the case transferred the whole record here so that a default judgment, awarded in the federal court, could be placed on record against the Sanders brothers here.

The record shows that the case was handled by U. S. Attorney J. Julius Levy for the Middle District under provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938.

First Local Case

It was believed today to be the first case of its kind to be placed on record against any Adams County farmer. The civil action was brought against the pair to collect penalties provided in the 1938 act and its amendments.

The record shows that the county Agricultural and Adjustment committee established a wheat acreage allotment of 8 acres for the Sanders farm for harvest in 1954. The committee found that the defendants "planted" 19 acres of wheat which meant there was an excess of 11 acres. They found that normal yield there was 15 bushels to the acre so that there was "a farm marketing excess of wheat of 165 bushels."

The Sanders were given notice of their marketing quota, the amount of their excess and were informed of their rights to ask for an adjustment and review but the record says they failed to ask for either.

The parity price of wheat as of May 1, 1954 was $2.50, the case record states and "under the provisions of the act the rate of penalty applicable to the 1954 crop of wheat is $1.12." The penalty was determined to be $184.80 on that basis.

Get Default Judgment

The Sanders were "required to pay" the penalties by January 31, 1955 "but they have failed and refused to pay the penalty or any (Continued On Page 2)

NEED FOR MORE HOSPITAL FUNDS CITED AT DINNER

The Warner hospital was firmly established as Adams county's "Number One community enterprise" and responsibility, Thursday evening, when representatives of the bar and bankers associations and the medical society of the county met with officers and directors of the hospital and officers of its women's auxiliary at a dinner meeting at Hotel Gettysburg.

Describing the meeting as a "fact-finding" session, Wilbur A. Bankert, Littlestown, first vice president of the hospital, said it was necessary that the facilities of the institution be expanded to fulfill the needs of the area it serves.

In the program in which Philip Dunn, CPA, the auditor of the hospital; Henry M. Scharf, chairman of the finance committee, and Dr. R. W. Gifford, public relations chairman of the medical society participated, the financial and statistical history of the hospital was developed and the steps that are necessary to provide adequate hospital facilities for the county in the future were described.

Services Are Expanded

The program revealed the manner in which the resources of the institution have been husbanded so as to be prepared to expand its services. It also identified clearly the value of the contributions to the letter campaign and the activities of the women's auxiliary.

Matt R. Thompson, Son Of Veteran Who Fought In Battle Of Gettysburg, And Builder Of The Famous Death Valley Palace, Is Visiting Here

To an engineer less resourceful than Matt Roy Thompson, the building of the fabulous Scotty's Castle in Death Valley would have proved too much of an undertaking. But for Matt, whose father fought at Gettysburg 93 years ago, it was a challenge and the mansion in Death Valley today is a silent testimonial to the California engineer.

Mr. Thompson, Pasadena, Calif., and his wife, who are touring the country, are in Gettysburg this week looking over the area where his father, George Washington Thompson, fought with the 8th Illinois Cavalry. "A man named Jones in that outfit fired the first shot against the Confederate troops," he said.

Matt, who has been a notable construction engineer and appraiser for many years feels that "the building of Scotty's Castle in Death Valley, from 1925 to 1931 was my most interesting assignment."

Started With Romance

It all began with a college romance at Stanford University when he met pretty blonde freshman, Bessie Morris Penniman. Her father owned a large ranch and orchard at Walnut Creek east of Oakland. They attended football games together. In the financial panic of 1933 Matt's father, a Tacoma, Wash. real estate man, met with financial reverses. Young Thompson had to leave school. Miss Penniman transferred to Cornell University from where she corresponded regularly with Matt. Later on she met Albert M. Johnson, a wealthy young engineering student and then the letters to Matt weren't so frequent. Not long afterwards Matt and his bride received the announcement of Bessie's marriage to Johnson.

During the 30 years which followed Matt kept in close touch with the Johnsons meanwhile carving out a more than successful career of his own.

Born In Iowa

Born in Dunlap, Iowa, the son of George Washington Thompson, of Illinois, and Susan Forrer, of Ohio, who corresponded as sweethearts while the former fought at Gettysburg, he moved with his family at the age of eleven to Chattanooga, Tenn. Two years later they moved to Tacoma, Wash. where they lived for 13 years. His father, prior to his death in 1896, was an attorney in Morrison, Ill. (Continued On Page 9)

BUY MORE LAND FOR RECREATION

HARRISBURG (P)—The Forests and Waters Department today started plans for acquiring additional land to install recreational facilities at the George B. Stevenson dam recently put into operation in Clinton County.

The General State Authority yesterday approved allocation of $180,000 for the 294-acre land purchase.

The department will use the land for construction of a bathing beach, roadways, additional parking space and extension and relocation of the dam's trash collecting boom.

The dam was officially dedicated two weeks ago in honor of Sen. George B. Stevenson (R-Clinton) who guided the project through the Legislature.

At the same time the borrowed-build agency deferred action on construction of a 1 million dollar men's dormitory at Lock Haven State Teachers College.

The proposed project would include purchase of property for the expansion.

The GSA postponed action pending a report of a special agency committee now making a study of dormitory construction at State Teachers Colleges.

The committee is headed by Secretary of the Property and Supplies John S. Rice.

PENNSTAETEGETS MORE BUILDINGS

HARRISBURG (P)—A building program to cost more than 10½ million dollars for the Pennsylvania State University moved another step ahead today.

The General State Authority approved plans yesterday for four expansion projects at the university and allocated $10,625,000 for their construction.

The construction includes:

- Laboratory buildings and facilities for agricultural research on turkeys, swine, meats and meat processing—$1,250,000.
- Construction and alteration on the general engineering building—$3,975,000.
- Completion of the home economics building—$1,650,000.
- Construction of a military, air and naval science building—$1,750,000.

The executive board of the GSA approved a total of $91,418,248 in construction and repair projects throughout the state.

Of the nine departments and classification into which the approved allocations were divided, Penn State College ranked third in order of amounts of money allocated.

State Store Clerks Get $587 Increase

HARRISBURG (P)—State liquor store clerks now receive $3,077 a year to start—a boost of $587 a year over old salary.

The State Liquor Control Board boosted the starting salary "to enhance the value of these positions in comparison with competitive industry."

Board Chairman Patrick E. Kerwin, said "the recruitment period has been extended to Aug. 10 by the State Civil Service Commission in order to give applicants an opportunity to qualify for the higher starting salaries."

NEPHEW FILES REPLY TO UNCLE'S EQUITY ACTION

Preliminary objections were filed today at the office of Prothonotary Herbert W. Miller by Swope, Brown and Swope, as counsel for Harry L. Scott, Gettysburg R. 1, in the equity action brought against him by his 79-year-old uncle, W. Elmer Scott, Gettysburg R. 2.

Elmer Scott seeks in the action to recover title to his farm which he deeded to Harry Scott in 1951. The elder Scott claims his nephew did not care for him as he had promised as a condition to the transfer of the farm.

In the objections placed on record today, Harry Scott's attorneys ask that the complaint "be stricken from the record" because the complaint is "replete with impertinent allegations in that it contains facts not material to the issue, patently irrelevant and beyond the scope of judicial inquiry."

Ask Clear Statement
The demand also is made that a more specific statement of claim be filed "for the reason that the allegations set forth by the plaintiff's counsel are so vague and indefinitely stated that the defendant is unable to answer them."

Elmer Scott's attorneys, Donald G. Oyler and Charles W. Wolf, now have 20 days in which to enter pleadings to today's objections.

In addition to asking return of his farm, Elmer Scott in his equity suit asks that Harry Scott be enjoined from selling or encumbering the land; asks that Scott account for all rents and profits earned from the land since early 1951 and asks that judgment be entered against Harry Scott for $1,750.

KINDNESS AND GRATEFULNESS HELP SURVIVOR

NEW YORK (AP)—This is the story of a girl who remembers a kindness by Italians and of an immigrant farmer who landed from the Andrea Doria frightened, friendless and lost.

The farmer is Nicandro Caranci, a short, tanned man of 45, from Campobasso, who came here to live with a brother he has never seen.

He planned to find him amid the throng on a New York dock by the simple expedient of shouting the family name at the top of his lungs.

But he came down the gangplank of the Ile de France to a wild, noisy scene of shipwrecked survivors instead of homecoming passengers, and his simple plan failed.

Italian-speaking officials turned him over to the Traveler's Aid Society and at the moment Miss Eileen Sweeney stepped into the picture.

Miss Sweeney, 26-year-old daughter of State Sen. James Sweeney, wanted to do something for Italians in distress as a small "thank you" for help she had received in Italy once.

Caranci was turned over to her, and Miss Sweeney installed him in one of the rooms being held for survivors at the Hotel Roosevelt.

She spoke almost no Italian, but Caranci scrawled the name of his brother Antonio and an address of sorts on a scrap of paper.

The address read, "Saut Barr, Mass. B155."

Miss Sweeney picked up a telephone and began a long-distance hunt which took her into three states before she was through.

"Saut Barr" was finally unraveled as "South Barr" and Tony Caranci had a telephone listing. He was in New York meeting his brother, she was told, and might be staying with married daughters in Stamford, Conn., or Bloomfield, N.J.

Armed with more telephone numbers, she called the Stamford number but it was busy. She called the Bloomfield number and Caranci's niece Mrs. Evelyn Neri answered.

After that, Caranci was not lost any more and he certainly wasn't friendless. Miss Sweeney picked up her bag, softly said "Arrivederci" (goodbye) and went home.

BULLETIN
NEW YORK (AP)—A settlement of the 27-day nationwide steel strike was announced today but a formal end to the strike will not come until sometime early next week.
David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, announced at a news conference the settlement had been reached. John A. Stephens, chief industry negotiator, sat beside him nodding agreement.

McDonald said that it will take "several days," however, before individual contracts with the steel companies can be completed and signed.

He said a return to work of the 650,000 striking steelworkers must wait until the signing of the contracts.
No terms of the settlement were announced.

WAIVE CUSTOMS FOR SURVIVORS OF SEA CRASH

NEW YORK (AP)—There were 760 of them. Most were half clad. Some were still dazed and many were numb.

Passport requirements were waived for their arrival and public health inspection was suspended. There was no need for customs; they had no baggage.

Throughs cheered or wept as they arrived last night aboard the French liner Ile de France. They had left Europe amidst comfort and splendor of the luxury liner Andrea Doria. They arrived haggard and worn out, survivors of the collision that sent the Andrea Doria to the bottom of the Atlantic and damaged the Swedish ship Stockholm.

Nearly all of the Andrea Doria's 1,600 passengers and crew members were saved in a dramatic rescue operation by the Ile de France and other vessels.

Heroism and Sacrifice
Their stories were different. Some told of nerves of steel, of heroism, of sacrifice. Others recalled screams and chaos.

There were stories of death too. Dr. T. S. Peterson of Upper Montclair, N.J., told how his wife was crushed to death in the collision and he was unable to free her.

In the next cabin, he said, he discovered the bodies of Camille M. Cianfarra, Madrid correspondent of the New York Times, and his daughter and stepdaughter. Mrs. Cianfarra had been pinned down by fallen timbers. It took hours before Peterson and crewmen could free her. She was removed to the Ile de France with injuries.

Went Down With Ship
As for Peterson's wife, "She went down with the ship," Peterson said.

There were also stories of mothers and their children in the face of disaster.

"I was sure that I was going to die, that everything was all over," recalled Mrs. Rose Adragna of Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I rushed five decks below to grab my daughter (Olivia, 2) from her bed, and then it took me a quarter of an hour to get to the main deck because of the list."

"I kept thinking of my husband and my boy at home. The baby kept crying for her milk bottle that I had left behind. I remember thinking that I couldn't possibly go back for the bottle."

"YOUR FIRST LOVE"

When it happens you will know it... for your heart will feel a thrill... unlike that of any other... like the world was standing still... smiles will take the place of frowning... and you'll sing a happy song... most everything will turn out right... for love can do no wrong... even if the skies are dreary... you'll behold a brilliant sun... yes, all this is sure to happen... when you find the only one... your faith will start ascending... and hope will burn anew... and all the dreams you ever dreamed... will suddenly come true... roses bloom at every turning... tenderness is everywhere... so it is when fate supplies you... with a love beyond compare... I have this to write in closing... keep it pure and high above... and whatever may transpire... you will cherish your first love.

"It was just like an explosion," she said. "Nobody felt but it sounded like a very big firecracker."

"I threw off my shoes because of the high heels and ran two decks below to the cabin to my son Dickie, who is only 3½. He and his nurse were barely awake. "I pulled out three life preservers and dragged both of them to the upper deck and told them to stay near the grand staircase."

"Terribly Exciting"

"Dickie was not crying. He thought it was terribly exciting. I kept telling him it was a picnic. I found a balloon and a rug and told him to blow it up."

The actress continued: "Dickie was on my lap and I handed him to a sailor who strapped him to himself. They got into the boat, but it left before I could get aboard."

The Coast Guard reported that Dickie was safe aboard the Stockholm. The word was relayed to his mother.

Two-year-old Maria Dooner survived the crash because her mother is a good swimmer. Mrs. George Dooner, 24, of Arlington, N.J., plunged into the water after the child fell overboard. For a few minutes they were alone in

Families Were Separated
Many parents and children were separated in the mad scramble for lifeboats.

Tullo de Sandro tossed his 4-year-old daughter into the arms of a stranger in a lifeboat. He and his wife later were picked up by another boat and brought into New York by the Ile de France. The girl was located later at a Boston hospital.

Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia and his wife were among the survivors aboard the Ile de France.

Dilworth spoke calmly of the crash: "We turned in about 10 o'clock. We were suddenly awakened and knocked to our feet. Anne (his wife) said, 'We must have hit an iceberg'—it's like the Titanic story. There was an immediate bad list and when I opened the door to the hall, there was heavy smoke."

"We put on our lifejackets, crawled to the boat deck. There, six boats were being lowered. They couldn't get any more into the water. We went down a rope ladder as near as we could to the boats and hung on until the women and children were taken off the ship."

"About 4 a.m., we got into one of the last boats and at 5:30 we were aboard the Ile de France."

"There was no panic and very little screaming."

Stairs Were Jammed

But passengers from lower decks recalled screaming, fight and terror as the big ship started to go down.

Recalled Charles Annino, 39, a former Chicagoan now living in Italy:

"The hallways and stairs were jammed with screaming people. They were pushing up, as others pushed to get down. When I got to the lifeboat, carrying our baby, a man tried to shove me out of the way. We made it, though we lost everything we had."

Two nuns of the Dominican order, Sister Callistus of London, Ont., and Sister Marie Raymond of Grand Rapids, Mich., told how they soothed some crying children and then began to recite the rosary.

"We said the rosary for the passengers and they seemed to be grateful," they said.

Diplomatic Relations Between England And Egypt May Break

LONDON (AP)—Diplomatic relations between Egypt and the British and French governments reached a crisis today over Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal Co. under a nationalization decree.

The company was French-controlled and the British government held 44 per cent of its stock. This dropped 21 per cent on the Paris market and the French franc—already staggering under the impact of inflation—lost more of its value in relation to gold.

Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser announced last night Egypt was expropriating the 101-mile canal and would use its revenues to finance the Aswan Dam.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau called in Egyptian Ambassador Kamal Eddine Abdel Nabl and protested the action in what informed sources called "energetic language."

After the conference diplomatic relations between France and Egypt were described as almost at the breaking point. The Egyptian ambassador called Pineau's words "inadmissible and unacceptable" and said he thought his government would have to reconsider its relations with France.

British Prime Minister Eden told a tense House of Commons that nationalization of the waterway had created a serious situation which would have to be handled with "firmness and care."

Reacting with fiery language to withdrawal of British and United States offers to help finance the $1,300,000,000 Aswan Dam on the Nile, Nasser declared in Alexandria:

"We don't have to seek American and British aid for building our dam. We'll build the dam ourselves and with our own money."

Nasser said Egypt would realize 100 million dollars a year from the canal to build the dam. Figures from the canal company indicated he might have to double tolls to do so.

The canal is the major channel for Middle East oil. This was reflected on the Paris market with a $650 drop in Esso Standard stock to $189 a share.

Eden remained silent on suggestions from some members of Parliament that Britain might have to use force against Egypt. But he said his government was considering stopping shipment of all British arms to Egypt.

The British aircraft carrier Eagle, major unit of the British navy closest to Egypt, remained at Naples, Italy.

Eden said his government was consulting with other interested governments, including the United States and France. Australia and Italy also were in contact with other interested governments, saying the Egyptian action might restrict free use of the canal by world shipping.

Egypt recently recognized Red China and its action was condemned by the official spokesman of the Chinese Nationalist Foreign Ministry in Formosa.

Relations between Cairo and Paris over the Suez Canal affair were complicated by French resentment at what the French consider a broken promise by Nasser to avoid intervention in Algeria, where Arab nationalists are in revolt.

port on the national Junior Chamber of Commerce convention which he and Donald Becker attended recently at Kansas City. Becker served on the credentials committee at the convention at which Pennsylvania's past president, Ralph Peters, was elected a national vice president. Becker, who has traveled 4,300 miles as a state Jaycee director, now is at a national board meeting at Tulsa, Okla.

Fred Attinger reported 113 beard permits have been sold in the contest for the forthcoming town sesquicentennial celebration.

Jack Bartlett told of plans for the "Breakfast Fly-in" to be held here September 23 during the sesqui celebration. He said 500 letters of invitation and 1,000 registration cards have been distributed for the fly-in. Visitors will be charged $7.50 for adults and $3.50 for children with the price to cover breakfast, a tour of the battlefield, a visit to the electric map and admission to any sesqui events underway that day.

Report On Tourney, Show
Instead of selling American flags from door to door as was done last year, the Jaycees are distributing two flags to each member to be sold by him.

A report was presented on the Junior Golf Tournament conducted here recently in which James Smallwood, of Biglerville, was the winner. He will compete this weekend in the state tourney at New Castle.

Nineteen booths already have been rented for the Jaycees' annual Antique Show to be held August 10, 11 and 12. The next meeting of the organization will be held August 9 so that members can help with preparations for the show.

Picnic On Sunday
Robert Weiland was introduced as a new member of the Junior Chamber. Secretary Richard Brice presented a report on a recent meeting of the board of directors.

Magnus Flaws announced plans for the family picnic to be held Sunday afternoon and evening at Laurel Lake. Members will meet at 1:30 p.m. at the Acme parking lot. Each family is to bring its own food.

The Jaycees will undertake the sale of giant-size Christmas stockings filled with toys for kiddies as their profit-making project for this year. It was decided Thursday evening. Thomas Metz is chairman of the committee in charge that in-

MORE THAN 100 IN SECOND DAY OF GOLF MATCH

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Two titles were at stake today in the 21st annual Publix Golf Tournament as a field of more than 100 amateurs moved into the second day of competition.

Competition for the first half medal shaped up as a scrap between defending medalist Art Garrison, of the host Hershey Park course, and Bob Cummins, of Philadelphia's Walnut Lane Club.

Also on the block was the annual team championship. Hershey has won the crown for the past three years.

Team players went after the new Edgar T. Nigg Trophy, named for the current president of the Pennsylvania Public Golfers Assn., which sponsors the tourney.

The three-day competition ends tomorrow when the final 36 holes of the 72-hole grind will be played to decide the individual championship.

Eastern League

The Williamsport Grays finally have defeated the last-place Johnstown Johnnies.

Until last night, the sixth-place Grays had been tied once and defeated nine times by the Eastern League cellar dwellers. A Johnstown throwing error with two out in the ninth inning of last night's game gave the visiting Grays a 5-4 victory.

The Syracuse Chiefs, who looked like dead ducks after Ken McKenzie of the visiting Binghamton Triplets hit a two-run homer in the top of the 13th, came back to win 6-5. And homers by Red Robbins and Jim Davis gave the Schenectady Blue Jays five runs and a 7-2 victory over the Albany Senators.

A game between the Reading Indians and Allentown Red Birds at Reading was rained out.

Ray Maurer threw wild to first after Joe Christopher hit down to third in the game at Johnstown. The error enabled Nick Coback to score, breaking a 4-4 tie.

Harry Durkin's two-run single with the bases loaded and Mike Turturro's shot that smacked first base with the sacks again full were the hits that gave Syracuse its comeback victory in the 13th.

5 FORMER GOLF CHAMPS BEATEN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pennsylvania's annual Amateur Golf Championship is about half over and already five former champions are through.

Among the former titleholders who have lost out is defending champion Fred Paine Jr., of Oakmont. Three other former winners were among 16 remaining in competition today for the match play tournament.

Paine lost yesterday to Clyde H. Oskin, Jr. of Saucon Valley, 2 up over the Merion Golf Club's 6,694-yard course. Oskin had eliminated Al Kosanovich of Churchill Valley in a morning session.

Defeated former champions beside Paine are Lloyd Beyer (1931 and 1934) of Aronominck, A. J. (Pete) Jordan (1953) of Chartiers.

WAVE CUSTOMS FOR SURVIVORS OF SEA CRASH

NEW YORK (AP)—There were 760 of them. Most were half clad. Some were still dazed and many were numb.

Passport requirements were waived for their arrival and public health inspection was suspended. There was no need for customs; they had no baggage.

Throats cheered or wept as they arrived last night aboard the French liner Ile de France. They had left Europe amidst comfort and splendor of the luxury liner Andrea Doria. They arrived haggard and worn out, survivors of the collision that sent the Andrea Doria to the bottom of the Atlantic and damaged the Swedish ship Stockholm.

Nearly all of the Andrea Doria's 1,600 passengers and crew members were saved in a dramatic rescue operation by the Ile de France and other vessels.

"We don't have to seek American and British aid for building our dam. We'll build the dam ourselves and with our own money."

Nasser said Egypt would realize 100 million dollars a year from the canal to build the dam. Figures from the canal company indicated he might have to double tolls to do so.

The canal is the major channel for Middle East oil. This was reflected on the Paris market with a $6.50 drop in Esso Standard stock to $139 a share.

Eden remained silent on suggestions from some members of Parliament that Britain might have to use force against Egypt. But he said his government was considering stopping shipment of all British arms to Egypt.

The British aircraft carrier Eagle, major unit of the British navy closest to Egypt, remained at Naples, Italy.

Eden said his government was consulting with other interested governments, including the United States and France. Australia and Italy also were in contact with other interested governments, saying the Egyptian action might restrict free use of the canal by world shipping.

Egypt recently recognized Red China and its action was condemned by the official spokesman of the Chinese Nationalist Foreign Ministry in Formosa.

Relations between Cairo and Paris over the Suez Canal affair were complicated by French resentment at what the French consider a broken promise by Nasser to avoid intervention in Algeria, where Arab nationalists are in revolt.

MORE THAN 100 IN SECOND DAY OF GOLF MATCH

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Two titles were at stake today in the 21st annual Publix Golf Tournament as a field of more than 100 amateurs moved into the second day of competition.

Competition for the first half medal shaped up as a scrap between defending medalist Art Garrison, of the host Hershey Park course, and Bob Cummings, of Philadelphia's Walnut Lane Club.

Also on the block was the annual team championship. Hershey has won the crown for the past three years.

Team players went after the new Edgar T. Nigg Trophy, named for the current president of the Pennsylvania Public Golfers Assn., which sponsors the tourney.

The three-day competition ends tomorrow when the final 36 holes of the 72-hole grind will be played to decide the individual champion-

Eastern League

The Williamsport Grays finally have defeated the last-place Johnstown Johnnies.

Until last night, the sixth-place Grays had been tied once and defeated nine times by the Eastern League cellar dwellers. A Johnstown throwing error with two out in the ninth inning of last night's game gave the visiting Grays a 5-4 victory.

The Syracuse Chiefs, who looked like dead ducks after Ken McKenzie of the visiting Binghamton Triplets hit a two-run homer in the top of the 13th, came back to win 6-5. And homers by Red Robbins and Jim Davis gave the Schenectady Blue Jays five runs and a 7-2 victory over the Albany Senators.

A game between the Reading Indians and Allentown Red birds at Reading was rained out.

Ray Maurer threw wild to first after Joe Christopher hit down to third in the game at Johnstown. The error enabled Nick Coback to score, breaking a 4-4 tie.

Harry Durkin's two-run single with the bases loaded and Mike Turturro's shot that smacked first base with the sacks again full were the hits that gave Syracuse its comeback victory in the 13th.

NEPHEW FILES REPLY TO UNCLE'S EQUITY ACTION

Preliminary objections were filed today at the office of Prothonotary Herbert W. Miller by Swope, Brown and Swope, as counsel for Harry L. Scott, Gettysburg R. 1, in the equity action brought against him by his 79-year-old uncle, W. Elmer Scott, Gettysburg R. 2.

Elmer Scott seeks in the action to recover title to his farm which he deeded to Harry Scott in 1951. The elder Scott claims his nephew did not care for him as he had promised as a condition to the transfer of the farm.

In the objections placed on record today, Harry Scott's attorneys ask that the complaint "be stricken from the record" because the complaint is "replete with unpertinent allegations in that it contains facts not material to the issue, patently irrelevant and beyond the scope of judicial inquiry."

Ask Clear Statement

The demand also is made that a more specific statement of claim be filed "for the reason that the allegations set forth by the plaintiff's counsel are so vague and indefinitely stated that the defendant is unable to answer them."

Elmer Scott's attorneys, Donald G. Oyler and Charles W. Wolf, now have 20 days in which to enter pleadings to today's objections.

In addition to asking return of his farm, Elmer Scott in his equity suit asks that Harry Scott be enjoined from selling or encumbering the land; asks that Scott account for all rents and profits earned from the land since early 1951 and asks that judgment be entered against Harry Scott for $1,750.

KINDNESS AND GRATEFULNESS HELP SURVIVOR

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the story of a girl who remembers a kindness by Italians and of an immigrant farmer who landed from the Andrea Doria frightened, friendless and lost.

The farmer is Nicandro Caranci, a short, tanned man of 45, from Campobasso, who came here to live with a brother he has never seen.

He planned to find him amid the throng on a New York dock by the simple expedient of shouting the family name at the top of his lungs.

But he came down the gang-plank of the Ile de France to a wild, noisy scene of shipwrecked survivors instead of homecoming passengers, and his simple plan failed.

Italian-speaking officials turned him over to the Traveler's Aid Society and at the moment Miss Ellen Sweeney stepped into the picture.

Miss Sweeney, 26-year-old daughter of State Sen. James Sweeney, wanted to do something for Italians in distress as a small "thank you" for help she had received in Italy once.

Caranci was turned over to her, and Miss Sweeney installed him in one of the rooms being held for survivors at the Hotel Roosevelt.

She spoke almost no Italian, but Caranci scrawled the name of his brother Antonio and an address of sorts on a scrap of paper.

The address read, "Saut Barr, Mass, B155."

Miss Sweeney picked up a telephone and began a long-distance hunt which took her into three states before she was through.

"Saut Barr" was finally unraveled as "South Barre" and Tony Caranci had a telephone listing. He was in New York meeting his brother, she was told, and might be staying with married daughters in Stamford, Conn., or Bloomfield, N.J.

Armed with more telephone numbers, she called the Stamford number but it was busy. She called the Bloomfield number and Caranci's niece Mrs. Evelyn Neri answered.

After that, Caranci was not lost any more and he certainly wasn't friendless. Miss Sweeney picked up her bag, softly said "Arrivederci" (goodbye) and went home.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK (AP) — A settlement of the 27-day nationwide steel strike was announced today but a formal end to the strike will not come until sometime early next week.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, announced at a news conference the settlement had been reached. John A. Stephens, chief industry negotiator, sat beside him nodding agreement.

McDonald said that it will take "several days," however, before individual contracts with the steel companies can be completed and signed.

He said a return to work of the 650,000 striking steelworkers must wait until the signing of the contracts.

No terms of the settlement were announced.

times the service it was called upon to render 15 years ago and this clearly indicates the requirements that will be made on it in the future," one speaker said.

Basing their estimates of future requirements on the fact that the hospital service has expanded nearly 500 percent in the past 15 years, the speakers defined the pressing need as consistent capital contributions for new buildings and attention to increasing the endowment funds of the hospital so that income from trust funds and bequests would assure uninterrupted operation of the hospital in the future on the vastly greater scale that is indicated by present trends.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
1850 Troops In Camp On Field; 1600 Mile Trip: Near the end of a 15-day training trip on which they are covering approximately 1,600 miles, the 88th Coast Artillery (AA) of Camp Edwards, Massachusetts, passed through Gettysburg today pausing for brief ceremonies on the battlefield and so work out the air defense of Gettysburg and the surrounding area.

The commanding officer of the regiment, Colonel C. B. Meyer, was in charge of the ceremony which was held in Pitzer's Woods along West Confederate avenue where the regiment bivouacked before moving on about noon today.

Heat Wave Broken; Three Towns Start To Conserve Water: After setting an all-time record for July 26 on Monday with a high of 101 degrees, also the highest reading taken here this year, the heat wave broke today and sent the mercury into the comfortable, low eighties. At 1 o'clock this afternoon the temperature was 81 degrees.

Official Gettysburg weather records in the possession of Doctor Henry Stewart, local observer, show that never since complete records were begun here in 1903 has a reading of 101 degrees been taken here on a July 26.

Monday night was the hottest this year with a low reading of 76 degrees. Thunderstorms in surrounding sections and an overcast sky brought relief from the heat wave that kept Gettysburgians sweating in temperatures above 90 degrees since last week.

H. Earl Pitzer Offers To Haul Metal: Judge W. C. Sheely, general chairman in Adams County for the collection of aluminum to be used for defense purposes, announced today that H. Earl Pitzer, Biglerville, has offered his trucks for the hauling of aluminum from the fire engine house to the Harrisburg collection center.

A state motor police escort will accompany the truck caravan to Harrisburg. The aluminum gathered in the county will be taken to Harrisburg the latter part of the week or early next week, depending upon the arrival here of contributors from various county communities.

Mechanics Leave For Puerto Rico: Gomer Sharpe has returned to Borinquen Field, Puerto Rico, after spending a month's furlough in Gettysburg. He is foreman mechanic at the large airport being constructed there.

Accompanying Mr. Sharpe as mechanics were Hobson Crouse, Baltimore pike; Ralph Sittler, Fairfield, and Clair Good, of Hanover, formerly of Gettysburg. Mrs. Steve Smith accompanied the men to spend a month's vacation with her husband who is also employed at Borinquen Field.

Silk Shortage Will Affect Local Firm: R. E. Berkhimer, manager of the Gettysburg Throwing Company, said today that the freezing of Japanese assets in this country by the federal government would affect the local company within a week.

Consignments of raw silk now being held in New York warehouses and aboard Japanese ships in the Pacific Ocean include a quantity which was to have been sent here.

Whereas hosiery mills throughout the country may be forced to shut down due to the shortage of raw silk, the local company's production is expected to be curtailed only about 10 per cent. This is due to the ability of the local plant to work with either silk or rayon and even cotton and wool.

In anticipation of heavier demands for rayon materials in view of the silk shortage, Mr. Berkhimer has placed orders for much

Today's Talk

LOVE'S REALITY

I have no notion as to who gave birth to that idea that love is blind. Love is full of eyes, and that's why it travels around so much, because it sees everywhere that there is a need for love, and stops there!

It hunts out lonely people, those who are discouraged and those clinging to their last hope. Love finds them and mediates them with its own substance. And often this love sends a message to one of its extra stars in the firmament, and that star comes instantly to the hungry, wounded in spirit person, and the heart of that one is warmed and given new life and new incentive.

Our friend the dog has this love but can only show it in deeds of love or sacrifice. The lover shows what love is, for he can see nothing else but perfect beauty in the one loved. All through human life it spreads and lives and does its glad tidings.

There is nothing but true reality in the love of a mother. It's the world to her as she gives out of herself. Is there anything more beautiful than a mother with a child in her arms? No wonder that Christmas, celebrating the birth of Jesus, is so revered as one of the great events of all time. There it was that mother and child drew the attention of all the world to the manger in which they received the wise men, the shepherds, and undoubtedly strangers near by.

Love's reality is expressed not in gifts of money or jewels, but in gentleness and simple attentions, and unselfish surrenders. The love of the few or many is the only thing that you can take with you to the grave. It is there that it becomes immortal!

Give to those you so much love, the substance of your own love, and it will bless wherever it touches and bear in mind that this love of yours has healing power and can be made manifest!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "A Morning Prayer."

THE GROOM TALKS

Don't pause to say a word to me, But pass right on and kiss the bride;

Tell her that she is fair to see And stand a moment by her side;

'Twould be a dreadful break if they Who chatter gayly in the room Should see you talk with me.

I say, Remember, I am just the groom.

Talk to the waiter, if you will, And greet the caddy at the door;

But recognize me not until The wedding journey's safely o'er.

If you your social standing prize, Leave me alone in silent gloom.

Good breeding do not jeopardize; Remember, I am just the groom.

I know you wish me well, Old Pal, And I am grateful to you, too;

Remember it, I ever shall: But hurry by, whatever you do, It's not the style to talk with me.

The job of figurehead's my doom. Pass on at once the bride to see.

Remember, I am just the groom.

2 Developments Rock McKeon Trial As Prosecution Closes

By BEM PRICE

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—The court-martial of Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon was in adjournment today until Monday. But this big Marine base was humming after these two developments yesterday:

1. The testimony of Col. David W. Silvey, last prosecution witness, who said he had never heard of a night march by recruits here, and he has been here since Sept. 21, 1953.

2. A document produced by the defense which indicated that the House Armed Services Committee in May had given the Marine Corps 90 days to clean house.

Night March Involved
The court is concerned with a night disciplinary march ordered by McKeon in which six recruits drowned.

At the time of the march, April 8, Silvey was operations and training officer. His section had charge of preparing plans for recruit training. He was the highest ranking Marine officer to take the stand for the prosecution.

Silvey also told the court that he had never conducted a night inspection of the marshy areas back of the 3rd Recruit Battalion, or behind the rifle range.

"Callousness, Brutality"
The House Armed Services Committee's ultimatum was contained in a statement labeled "Policy of the Commandant of the Marine Corps Governing Recruit Training" issued May 1, the date the commandant, Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, appeared before the committee. His appearance was prompted by the death march.

Excerpts from the document were used in questioning a witness at the court-martial yesterday. The full document was not read in court.

The document said in part: "The picture which is forming shows our recruit depots as repeated scenes of callousness and brutality in an atmosphere of coarseness and filth."

Ultimatum Issued
"The incidents of such things as forced marches to exhaustion, punishment duck-walks and other physical maltreatment, the hazing and personal indignity of heads in buckets, verbal filthy abuse, public ridicule for receipt of personal and private letters, all incidents of this nature must be known."

"We must be able to clearly demonstrate that we have the situation completely in hand. "If at the end of 90 days we are unable to make such a demonstration to the satisfaction of the House Armed Services Committee, we can be sure that the committee will take action to see what they must do to get our house in order."

36th And Last
Silvey was the 36th and last witness for the government, which completed its case at 3:53 p.m. against the 31-year-old former drill instructor from Worcester, Mass.

The court adjourned until Monday to permit defense attorney Emile Zola Berman to go on an unexplained mission which he said was of "utmost importance to this case."

ART LARSON TO MEET GIL SHEA IN SEMIFINALS

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Art Larson meets Gil Shea today in a semifinal round match of the 57th annual Pennsylvania Lawn Tennis championships, a match of the second and third-seeded players.

The other semifinal, featuring top-seeded Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and fourth-ranked Sammy Giammalva of Houston, is scheduled for Saturday.

In the women's division, the entire round of four will be run off today with second-seeded Althea Gibson of New York meeting unranked Mrs. Francis A. C. Vosters, Wilmington, Del., and upset artist Karol Fageros of Miami trying her luck against third-seeded Mrs. William Du Pont of Wilmington, Del.

Two Hours For Shea
Larson, former national champion from San Leandro, Calif., advanced to the semifinals yesterday with a 6-1, 4-6, 6-3 triumph over Sid Schwartz of New York. The southpaw from California had to battle all the way to subdue the game New Yorker.

Shea, of Los Angeles, needed two hours to turn back the bid of Allen Morris, Atlanta, Ga., 6-2, 3-6, 6-0. Morris folded just when he appeared to have Shea on the run.

Seixas was very impressive in winning from Grant Golden of Chicago. The 32-year-old Davis Cup veteran showed his best form in recent weeks as he won 7-5, 6-2,

TWO FRESHMEN PROS LEAD INTO SECOND ROUND

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two freshmen pros leading the Eastern Open Golf Tournament, John Knight and Jerry Kesselring, went into the second round today with contrasting attitudes.

"I'm not worried about winning, I just want to finish in the first 25," said the 26-year-old Knight of Springfield, Ill., after taking the lead with a 67 yesterday.

The leading 25 scorers at the end of the 72 holes Sunday qualify for the next two weeks of competition for scraps of money at Tam O'Shanter in Chicago.

"If I keep on hitting the ball like I have the last week, I might even win it," declared the 27-year-old Kesselring of Toronto in reviewing his 68 on the par 72 Mount Pleasant course.

Plenty Under Par
Kesselring broke into the professional victory list by winning the Ontario Open recently. Knight still has to experience the thrill, a seventh being his best finish.

Neither can afford to falter, for waiting to strike in the $19,000 tournament are six golfers with first-round scores of 69 and 11 with 70. Among those at 69 are Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., the 1953 Eastern Open winner, and rallying from a 2-4 deficit in the first set.

Teen-agers Vie For Spot In JCC Match

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP)—About 65 teen-age golfers tee off Sunday at Sylvan Heights Municipal Golf Course for four berths allotted Pennsylvania in the National Junior Chamber of Commerce Golf Tournament next month at Fargo, N.D.

The contestants will shoot an initial 18 rounds on the 6,175 yard, par 36-36-72 layout, cutting the field to 12. These 12 then will play an additional nine holes to determine the four players to represent Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvanians wound up this way: Arnold Palmer, Latrobe; Art Wall, Jr., Pocono Manor, and Bill Moran, Irwin, 70s; George Griffin, Jr., Lafayette Hills, 75; Rod Munday, York, 76, and Dave Wallace, Hollidaysburg, 78.

Braves Sporting Longest Lead In 3 Years As Redlegs Lose Again To Brooklyn; Phils Lose To Cards

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
The Milwaukee Braves never had it so good.

Since shifting their franchise from Boston in 1953, they've never enjoyed as much as a 5½-game lead in the National League. But that's what they have today, joining the Brooklyn Dodgers in a pair of five-game winning streaks that make the pennant race look like a two-team scrap.

There may be some dissenters among Cincinnati fans, but the Redlegs looked anything but healthy after losing three straight to the Dodgers. Brooklyn completed the sweep 5-3 yesterday, crumpling Cincinnati's hold on second place to a scant four percentage points and half a game.

Six-Game Edge
That gave the Braves, who again laid the wood to the last-place New York Giants 11-0, a six-game edge over Brooklyn — with a four-game series ahead in Ebbets Field beginning Monday. In the meantime, Milwaukee goes to Philadelphia and the Dodgers are at home to the Chicago Cubs for weekend series.

The sixth-place Phillies were thumped 14-9 by St. Louis last night. The seventh-place Cubs lost to Pittsburgh 4-0.

In the American League, the New York Yankees must surely have convinced the Chicago White Sox this was another Bomber year, defeating the Pale Hose 8-5 with 11 singles. In fact, about the only nonbeliever in the AL is Hank ("I expect the 1956 World Series to be played in Cleveland") Greenberg, whose second-place Indians made it six straight with a seven-inning 1-0 victory over Washington but still trail by 8½ games.

Boston Defeats Kansas City
A 10-inning home run by Ted Williams gave Boston a 5-3 decision over Kansas City. And Baltimore grabbed back a full share of fifth place from Detroit, beating the Tigers 11-6.

The Braves battered ex-bonus boy Johnny Antonelli for a 6-0 lead in two frames. Hank Aaron drove in four runs with a home run and two singles that put him in the NL batting lead again at .340. Bobby Thomson socked his 16th homer. The Braves swung for 16 hits in support of Gene Conley's fifth victory.

Three-Run Homer
Roy Campanella swatted a three-run homer to trigger the Dodgers. It was his first in three weeks. The Brooks had nine hits, but Carl Furillo's hit streak was ended at 16 games. Tom Acker, making only his second major league start as a replacement for ailing Joe Nuxhall, was the loser.

Roger Craig six-hit the Redlegs for his 10th victory. Frank Robinson tagged him for his 23rd home run and Ted Kluszewski poled his 26th, breaking a tie with Duke Snider for the NL lead.

The Cardinals routed Robin Roberts with a four-run sixth to take a 7-6 lead, then scored six in the seventh with winning reliever Herm Wehmeier hitting a home run and two-run single in the big frame. Bob Miller lost it.

Rookie Wins
Rookie Fred Waters won his first major league start, giving the Cubs just four hits before Howie Pollet came on for a hitless two-inning relief job. Roberto Clemente's double and a single by Frank Thomas got the Pirates going in the fourth against Sad Sam Jones.

The Yankees bunched five singles and a walk for five runs, and a 6-3 lead in the third against Chicago's Jack Harshman. Mickey Mantle had three of the Yank hits. Don Larsen won in relief.

13th For Lemon
Gene Woodling's two-out home run in the sixth beat Chuck Stobbs, and gave Bob Lemon his 13th victory. The Indians had only two hits until the sixth.

George Kell, Gus Riandos and Ho Francona homered for the Orioles, who tagged Billy Hoeltz for seven runs in four innings and his ninth defeat. Bill Wight won at Ray Boone and Harvey Kuenn hit Tiger homers.

Jim Piersall's two-run double gave Boston a tie in the eighth. Williams won it with his ninth homer, following a walk. Ike Delock got the decision with three innings of one-hit relief.

The Vets added a pair of insurance runs in the final frame of the snappy and well-played game.

The fast-stepping Moose came from behind with five runs in the top of the fifth inning to nip the Hess Antiques in the second game 5-4. The Antiques scored four runs in the second on four singles, a hit batsman and an infield error. The Moose combined three walks, a hit batsman, Bud Knox's single and Cole's outfield fly in that order for their runs.

Bill Carter, Moose second baseman, made a leaping catch of Fred Furney's hard line drive with Earl Little on third base to save the game for his team in the final frame.

ROBERTS HAVING HIS ROUGHEST YEAR SINCE '48

PHILADELPHIA (P)—"You tell me what's wrong with me; I don't know," says Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Roberts, the brilliant righthander who has won 20 or more games in each of the past six years, is experiencing the roughest season since his rookie year in 1948, when he won seven and lost nine, the only time he wound up under .500 in the won and lost column.

The highest paid pitcher in baseball — he receives an estimated $50,000 a year — Roberts has won 10 and lost 11 so far in 1956. His earned run average is 4.34. When you note that his highest previous major league ERA is 3.69 in 1950 and that he hasn't been above 3.28 in the past six seasons, it gives you some idea of what a miserable time Robie is having.

It Is The Way He Loses
It's not the number of defeats that catches your eye in the Roberts case, but rather the way he loses. He's been knocked out of the box seven times this year, twice by St. Louis, once each by Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, and Brooklyn, and twice by Milwaukee. He's really been hit hard. Take last night for example. The Cardinals kayoed him with seven runs on nine hits, including two doubles, two triples and a home run.

It begins to look increasingly doubtful that the 29-year-old Sprungfield, Ill., native will reach the charmed 20-game circle this year. Time and his shabby performance appear against him. It used to be when Roberts lost, it was a close, well-pitched game in which his mates just didn't give him enough support. True, he has lost three or four such games this year, but of late, Roberts has been given plenty of runs. He's giving the opposition more.

"You Tell Me"
Someone said, maybe he has a sore arm. If he does, Roberts isn't admitting it. Asked point blank on this question, he replied: "A lot of people have been asking questions. I'll answer two right now. My arm feels fine. I am not experimenting with any new pitches." Manager Mayo Smith of the Phillies also is in the dark on the "What's the matter with Roberts" mystery.

"I've been trying to find out all year what's wrong with Roberts," he says with a sad shake of his head.

SPRINGERS WIN
York Springs crushed Carlisle 12-2 in a Bi-County Baseball League game Thursday evening. In the only other league game played Newville topped McAlister 7-4.

Braves Sporting Longest Lead In 3 Years As Redlegs Lose Again To Brooklyn; Phils Lose To Cards

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

The Milwaukee Braves never had it so good.

Since shifting their franchise from Boston in 1953, they've never enjoyed as much as a 5½-game lead in the National League. But that's what they have today, joining the Brooklyn Dodgers in a pair of five-game winning streaks that make the pennant race look like a two-team scrap.

There may be some dissenters among Cincinnati fans, but the Redlegs looked anything but healthy after losing three straight to the Dodgers. Brooklyn completed the sweep 5-3 yesterday, crumbling Cincinnati's hold on second place to a scant four percentage points and half a game.

Six-Game Edge
That gave the Braves, who again laid the wood to the last-place New York Giants 11-0, a six-game edge over Brooklyn — with a four-game series ahead in Ebbets Field beginning Monday. In the meantime, Milwaukee goes to Philadelphia and the Dodgers are at home to the Chicago Cubs for weekend series.

The sixth-place Phillies were thumped 14-9 by St. Louis last night. The seventh-place Cubs lost to Pittsburgh 4-0.

In the American League, the New York Yankees must surely have convinced the Chicago White Sox this was another Bomber year, defeating the Pale Hose 8-5 with 11 singles. In fact, about the only nonbeliever in the AL is Hank ("I expect the 1956 World Series to be played in Cleveland") Greenberg, whose second-place Indians made it six straight with a seven-inning 1-0 victory over Washington but still trail by 8½ games.

Boston Defeats Kansas City
A 10th-inning home run by Ted Williams gave Boston a 5-3 decision over Kansas City. And Baltimore grabbed back a full share of fifth place from Detroit, beating the Tigers 11-6.

The Braves battered ex-bonus boy Johnny Antonelli for a 6-0 lead in two frames. Hank Aaron drove in four runs with a home run and two singles that put him in the NL batting lead again at .340. Bobby Thomson socked his 16th homer. The Braves swung for 16 hits in support of Gene Conley's 15th victory.

Three-Run Homer
Roy Campanella swatted a three-run homer to trigger the Dodgers. It was his first in three weeks. The Brooks had nine hits, but Carl Furillo's hit streak was ended at 16 games. Tom Acker, making only his second major league start as a replacement for ailing Joe Nuxhall, was the loser.

Roger Craig six-hit the Redlegs for his 10th victory. Frank Robinson tagged him for his 23rd home run and Ted Kluszewski poled his 25th, breaking a tie with Duke Snider for the NL lead.

The Cardinals routed Robin Roberts with a four-run sixth to take a 7-6 lead, then scored six in the seventh with winning reliever Herm Wehmeier hitting a home run and two-run single in the big frame. Bob Miller lost it.

Rookie Wins
Rookie Fred Waters won his first major league start, giving the Cubs just four hits before Howie Pollet came on for a hitless two-inning relief job. Roberto Clemente's double and a single by Frank Thomas got the Pirates going in the fourth against Sam Jones.

The Yankees bunched five singles and a walk for five runs and a 6-3 lead in the third against Chicago's Jack Harshman. Mickey Mantle had three of the Yank hits. Don Larsen won in relief.

13th For Lemon
Gene Woodling's two-out home run in the sixth beat Chuck Stobbs and gave Bob Lemon his 13th victory. The Indians had only two hits until the sixth.

George Kell, Gus Rindos and Ito Francona homered for the Orioles, who tagged Billy Hoelt

The Vets added a pair of insurance runs in the final frame of the snappy and well-played game.

The fast-stepping Moose came from behind with five runs in the top of the fifth inning to nip the Hess Antiques in the second game 5-4. The Antiques scored four runs in the second on four singles, a hit batsman and an infield error. The Moose combined three walks, a hit batsman, Bud Knox's single and Cole's outfield fly in that order for their runs.

Bill Carter, Moose second baseman, made a leaping catch of Fred Purney's hard line drive with Earl Little on third base to save the game for his team in the final frame.

YOUNG MOTHER CARRIES SLIM LEAD AT DULUTH

DULUTH, Minn. (P)—Mrs. Kathy Cornelius, a 23-year-old mother with sparkling eyes and a putter to blend, carried a narrow lead against a swarm of established money winners today in the second round of the Women's National Open Golf Tournament.

With a glossy three-under-par 33 on the back nine, the brown-haired Lake Worth, Fla., pro matched par 73 at tough Northland Country Club in the opening round yesterday to slip in front of a corps of more renowned contenders.

One stroke back were Mrs. Marlene Bauer Hagge of Asheville, N.C., and Beverly Hanson of Apple Valley, Calif. Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., and amateur Barbara McIntyre of Toledo, Ohio were two strokes away at 75.

While most of the circuit reliables were in good challenging position, defending champion Poy Crocker of Uruguay was practically out of it with a whopping 82.

ROBERTS HAVING HIS ROUGHEST YEAR SINCE '48

PHILADELPHIA (P)—"You tell me what's wrong with me; I don't know," says Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Roberts, the brilliant righthander who has won 20 or more games in each of the past six years, is experiencing the roughest season since his rookie year in 1948, when he won seven and lost nine, the only time he wound up under .500 in the won and lost column.

The highest paid pitcher in baseball — he receives an estimated $50,000 a year — Roberts has won 10 and lost 11 so far in 1956. His earned run average is 4.34. When you note that his highest previous major league ERA is 3.69 in 1950, and that he hasn't been above 3.28 in the past six seasons, it gives you some idea of what a miserable time Robie is having.

It Is The Way He Loses

It's not the number of defeats that catches your eye in the Roberts case, but rather the way he loses. He's been knocked out of the box seven times this year, twice by St. Louis, once each by Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, and Brooklyn, and twice by Milwaukee. He's really been hit hard. Take last night for example. The Cardinals kayoed him with seven runs on nine hits, including two doubles, two triples and a home run.

It begins to look increasingly doubtful that the 29-year-old Springfield, Ill., native will reach the charmed 20-game circle this year. Time and his shabby performance appear against him. It used to be when Roberts lost, it was a close, well-pitched game in which his mates just didn't give him enough support. True, he has lost three or four such games this year, but of late, Roberts has been given plenty of runs. He's giving the opposition more.

"You Tell Me"

Someone said, maybe he has a sore arm. If he does, Roberts isn't admitting it. Asked point blank on this question, he replied: "A lot of people have been asking questions. I'll answer two right now. My arm feels fine. I am not experimenting with any new pitches." Manager Mayo Smith of the Phillies also is in the dark on the "What's the matter with Roberts" mystery.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
1850 Troops In Camp On Field:
1600 Mile Trip: Near the end of a 16-day training trip on which they are covering approximately 1,600 miles, the 8th Coast Artillery (AA) of Camp Edwards, Massachusetts, passed through Gettysburg today pausing for brief ceremonies on the battlefield and so work out the air defense of Gettysburg and the surrounding area.
The commanding officer of the regiment, Colonel C. B. Meyer, was in charge of the ceremony which was held in Pitzer's Woods along West Confederate avenue where the regiment bivouacked before moving on about noon today.

Heat Wave Broken; Three Towns Start To Conserve Water: After setting an all-time record for July 26 on Monday with a high of 101 degrees, also the highest reading taken here this year, the heat wave broke today and sent the mercury into the comfortable, low eighties. At 1 o'clock this afternoon the temperature was 81 degrees.
Official Gettysburg weather records in the possession of Doctor Henry Stewart, local observer, show that never since complete records were begun here in 1903 has a reading of 101 degrees been taken here on a July 26.
Monday night was the hottest this year with a low reading of 76 degrees. Thunderstorms in surrounding sections and an overcast sky brought relief from the heat wave that kept Gettysburgians sweating in temperatures above 90 degrees since last week.

H. Earl Pitzer Offers To Haul Metal: Judge W. C. Sheely, general chairman in Adams County for the collection of aluminum to be used for defense purposes, announced today that H. Earl Pitzer, Biglerville, has offered his trucks for the hauling of aluminum from the fire engine house to the Harrisburg collection center.
A state motor police escort will accompany the truck caravan to Harrisburg.
The aluminum gathered in the county will be taken to Harrisburg the latter part of the week or early next week, depending upon the arrival here of contributors from various county communities.

Mechanics Leave For Puerto Rico: Gomer Sharpe has returned to Borinquen Field, Puerto Rico, after spending a month's furlough in Gettysburg. He is foreman mechanic at the large airport being constructed there.
Accompanying Mr. Sharpe as mechanics were Hobson Crouse, Baltimore pike; Ralph Sittler, Fairfield, and Clair Good, of Hanover, formerly of Gettysburg. Mrs. Steve Smith accompanied the men to spent a month's vacation with her husband who is also employed at Borinquen Field.

Silk Shortage Will Affect Local Firm: R. E. Berkheimer, manager of the Gettysburg Throwing Company, said today that the freezing of Japanese assets in this country, of the federal government would affect the local company within a week.
Consignments of raw silk now being held in New York warehouses and aboard Japanese ships in the Pacific Ocean include a quantity which was to have been sent here.

Is Operated Upon: Mrs. Kermit Oyer, Carlisle street, who was taken in Monday afternoon at York where she is employed, submitted to a major operation today at the West Side Sanitarium in York.

Today's Talk
LOVE'S REALITY
I have no notion as to who gave birth to that idea that love is blind. Love is full of eyes, and that's why it travels around so much, because it sees everywhere until there is a need for love, and stops there!
It hunts out lonely people, those who are discouraged and those clinging to their last hope. Love finds them and medicates them with its own substance. And often this love sends a message to one of its extra stars in the firmament, and that star comes instantly to the hungry, wounded in spirit person, and the heart of that one is warmed and given new life and new incentive.
Our friend the dog has this love but can only show it in needs of love or sacrifice. The lover shows what love is, for he can see nothing else but perfect beauty in the one loved. All through human life it spreads and lives and does its glad tidings.
There is nothing but true reality in the love of a mother. It's the world to her as she gives out of herself. Is there anything more beautiful than a mother with a child in her arms? No wonder that, Christmas, celebrating the birth of Jesus, is so revered as one of the great events of all time. There it was that mother and child drew the attention of all the world to the manger in which they received the wise men, the shepherds, and undoubtedly strangers near by.
Love's reality is expressed not in gifts of money or jewels, but in gentleness and simple attentions, and unselfish surrenders. The love of the few or many is the only thing that you can take with you to the grave. It is there that it becomes immortal!
Give to those you so much love, the substance of your own love, and it will bless wherever it touches, and bear in mind that this love of yours has healing power and can be made manifest!
Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "A Morning Prayer."

Just Folks
THE GROOM TALKS
Don't pause to say a word to me, But pass right on and kiss the bride;
Tell her that she is fair to see And stand a moment by her side;
'Twould be a dreadful break if they Who chatter gayly in the room Should see you talk with me.
I say, Remember, I am just the groom.
Talk to the waiter, if you will, And greet the caddy at the door;
But recognize me not until The wedding journey's safely o'er.
If you your social standing prize, Leave me alone in silent gloom.
Good breeding do not jeopardize; Remember, I am just the groom.
I know you wish me well, Old Pal, And I am grateful to you, too; Remember it, I ever shall:
But hurry by, whatever you do. It's not the style to talk with me. The job of figurehead's my doom.
Pass on at once the bride to see. Remember, I am just the groom.

2 Developments Rock McKeon Trial As Prosecution Closes
By BEM PRICE
PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — The court-martial of Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon was in adjournment today until Monday. But this big Marine base was humming after these two developments yesterday:
1. The testimony of Col. David W. Silvey, last prosecution witness, who said he had never heard of a night march by recruits here, and he has been here since Sept. 21, 1953.
2. A document produced by the defense which indicated that the House Armed Services Committee in May had given the Marine Corps 90 days to clean house.

ART LARSON TO MEET GIL SHEA IN SEMIFINALS
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Art Larson meets Gil Shea today in a semifinal round match of the 57th annual Pennsylvania Lawn Tennis championships, a match of the second- and third-seeded players.
The other semifinal, featuring top-seeded Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and fourth-ranked Sammy Giammalva of Houston, is scheduled for Saturday.
In the women's division, the entire round of four will be run off today with second-seeded Althea Gibson of New York meeting unranked Mrs. Francis A. C. Voster, Wilmington, Del., and upset artist Karol Fageros of Miami trying her luck against third-seeded Mrs. William Du Pont of Wilmington, Del.

Two Hours For Shea
Larson, former national champion from San Leandro, Calif., advanced to the semifinals yesterday with a 6-1, 4-6, 6-3 triumph over Sid Schwartz of New York. The southpaw from California had to battle all the way to subdue the game New Yorker.
Shea, of Los Angeles, needed two hours to turn back the bid of Allen Morris, Atlanta, Ga., 6-2, 3-6, 6-0. Morris folded just when he appeared to have Shea on the run.
Seixas was very impressive in winning from Grant Golden of Chicago. The 32-year-old Davis Cup veteran showed his best form in recent weeks as he won 7-5, 6-2.

TWO FRESHMEN PROS LEAD INTO SECOND ROUND
BALTIMORE (AP) — Two freshmen pros leading the Eastern Open Golf Tournament, John Knight and Jerry Kesselring, went into the second round today with contrasting attitudes.
"I'm not worried about winning. I just want to finish in the first 25," said the 26-year-old Knight of Springfield, Ill., after taking the lead with a 67 yesterday.
The leading 25 scorers at the end of the 72 holes Sunday qualify for the next two weeks of competition for seeds of money at Tam O'Shanter in Chicago.
"If I keep on hitting the ball like I have the last week, I might even win it," declared the 27-year-old Kesselring of Toronto in reviewing his 68 on the par 72 Mount Pleasant course.
Kesselring broke into the professional victory list by winning the Ontario Open recently. Knight still has to experience the thrill, a seventh being his best finish.
Neither can afford to falter, for waiting to strike in the $19,000 tournament are six golfers with first-round scores of 69 and 11 with 70. Among those at 69 are Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., the 1953 Eastern Open winner, and rallying from a 2-4 deficit in the first set.

Basilio Will Get Crack At Saxton
NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Boxing Commission has given world welterweight champion Johnny Saxton the go-ahead and so he'll give Carmen Basilio a chance to reclaim the crown in Syracuse Sept. 12 or 18.
Saxton, who lifted the title from Carmen in Chicago by decision last March 14, previously had been banned in New York State since the commission, headed by Julius Helfand, had refused to license his manager, Frank (Biljaky) Palermo. The ban was lifted when Helfand decided it was preventing Basilio from trying to re-win the title.
Saxton, 26, was allowed to set up the fight by himself, although Helfand in the past has criticized such arrangements.

Photographic Highlights Of Tragic Sea Disaster; Seven Reported Dead

Crowd lines dock and nearby street as liner Ile de France arrives at pier in New York City with survivors of the sunken Italian liner Andrea Doria.

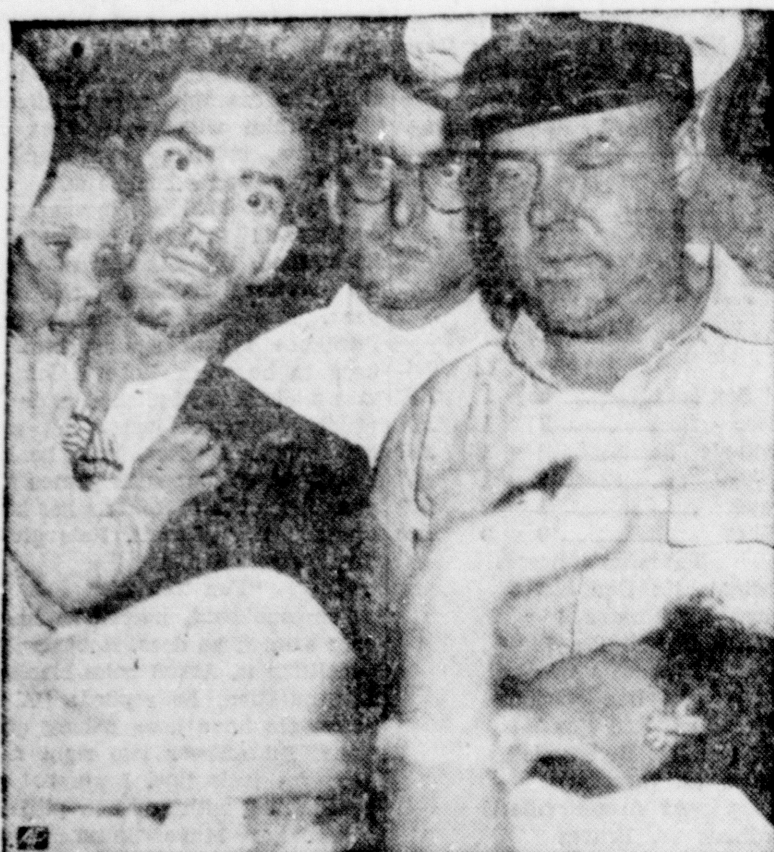

Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia and his wife, who suffered a black eye during rescue operations on the Andrea Doria.

Capt. Piero Calamai, above, of Genoa, Italy, is the skipper of the Italian liner Andrea Doria which sank off Nantucket Island Thursday following collision with Swedish ship Stockholm.

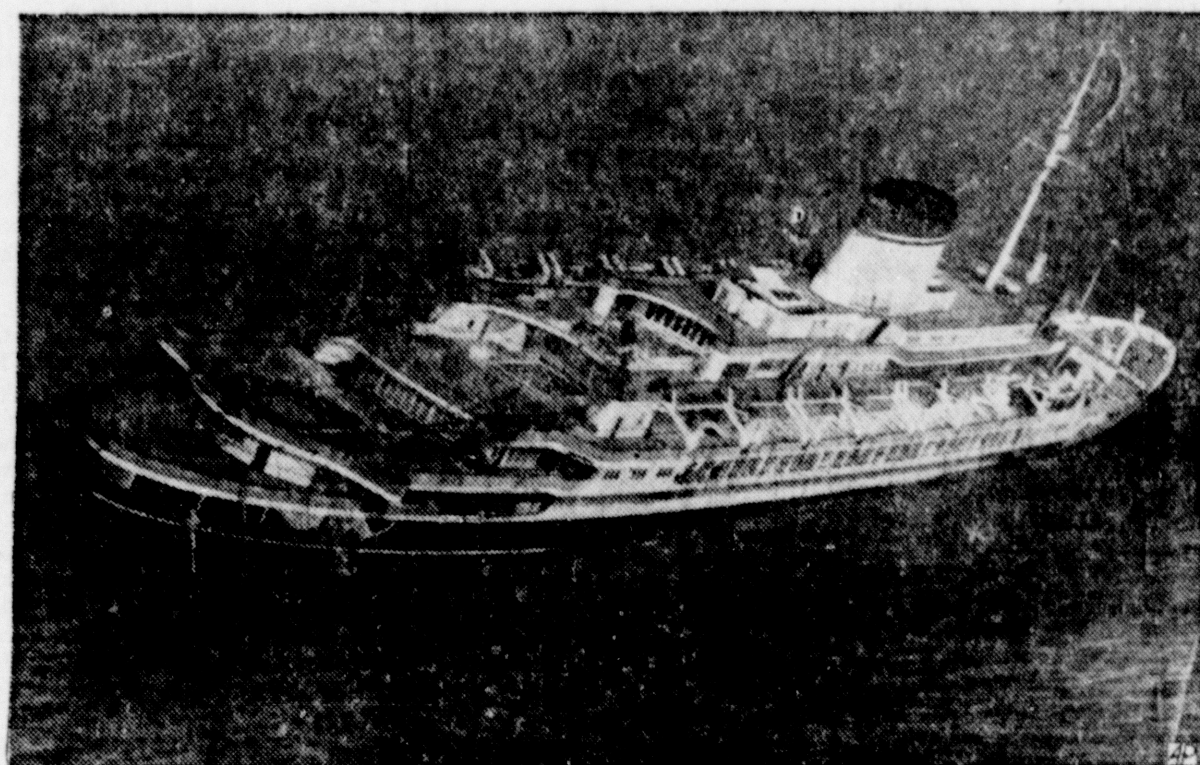

Mrs. Julia Marconi and her six-month-old daughter, Catherine, show the strain of the ordeal as they arrive with survivors of the Andrea Doria in New York City aboard the liner Ile de France.

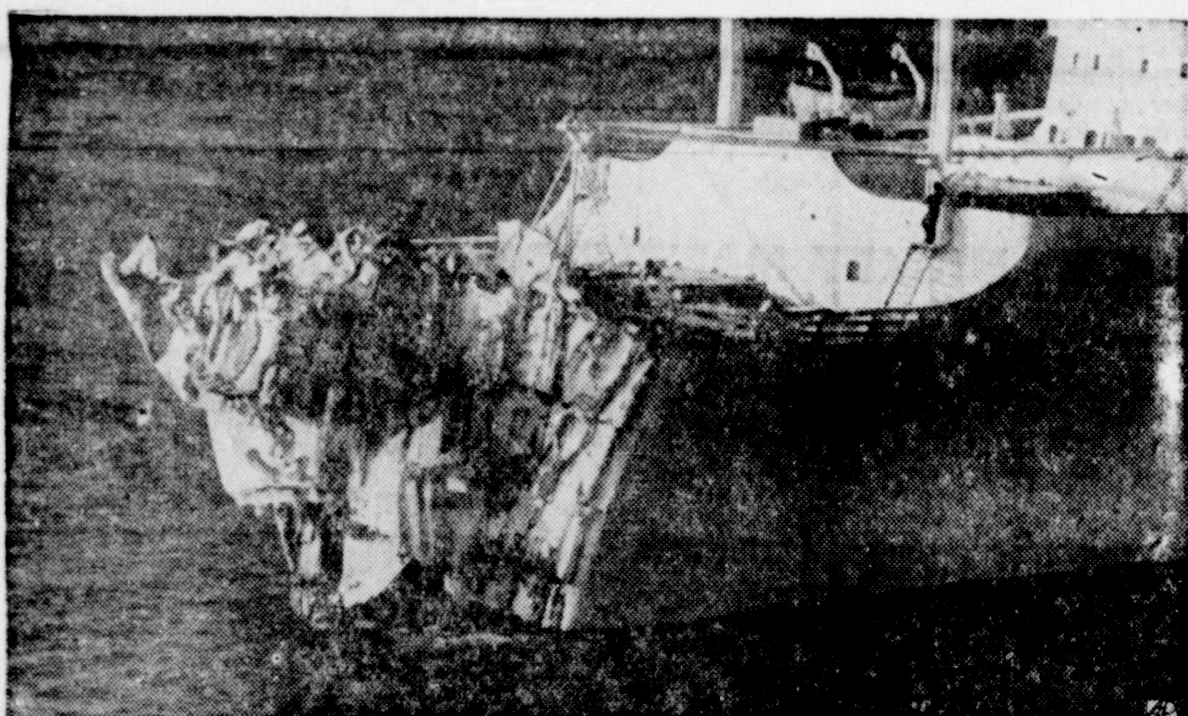

Little Angela Napoli, in arms of her father, Joseph Napoli, views her mother, Rosa, on stretcher, as survivors of sunken liner Andrea Doria leave rescue ship Ile de France as latter docked in New York City.

Lifeboat of passengers taken from sinking liner Andrea Doria comes along side a rescue vessel, apparently a buoy tender, with stricken ship in background prior to its sinking. Reflection in left center is from plane window through which picture was made.

Italian liner Andrea Doria heels over to starboard before sinking off Nantucket Island. Ship collided with Swedish liner Stockholm in heavy fog late Wednesday night. Aerial made by Associate Press Staff Photographer John Rooney.

Force of collision at sea is dramatically illustrated in this low level air view of liner Stockholm's smashed bow after its collision with Italian liner Andrea Doria in heavy fog off Nantucket Island.

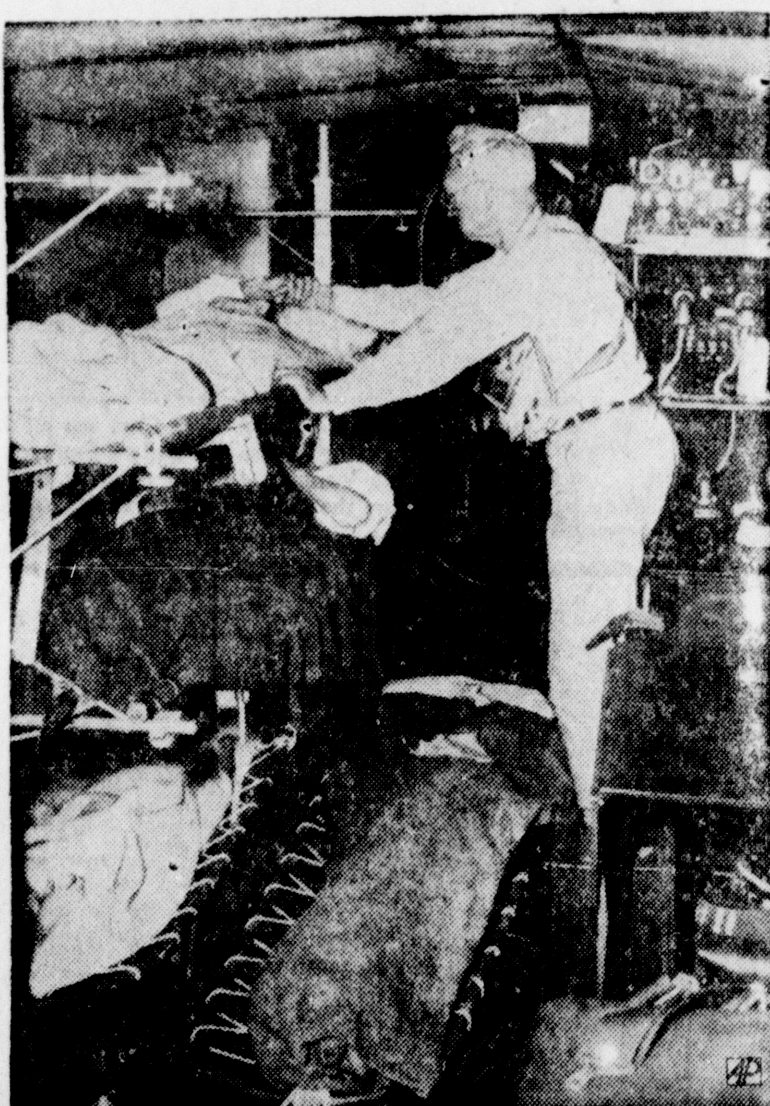

An unidentified man on stretcher is fed intravenously by a Navy corpsman as he is placed in ambulance at Nantucket, Mass., after his removal from the Swedish liner Stockholm by helicopter.

The events of the day were too exciting for this unidentified woman survivor of the sunken Italian liner Andrea Doria and she broke into tears on arrival in New York City aboard the rescue vessel Ile de France. Others unidentified.

Screen actress Ruth Roman stands shoeless and talks to newsmen on arriving in New York City aboard the Ile de France with other survivors of the ill-fated liner Andrea Doria. Miss Roman and her four-year-old son, Richard Hall, were among the survivors of the Italian liner.

Sunday School Lesson

By H. R. and M. C. Gold

WITNESSING THROUGH SUFFERING

I Peter 1:3-9; 5:6-11

Key Verse: Cast all your anxieties on him, for he cares about you. I Peter 5:7.

The theme of this lesson follows quite naturally that of last week. Persistently maintaining their faith through the ages Christians have not only been true to their inheritance but have demonstrated that the love of Christ and His Gospel has come first. But frequently love and suffering went hand in hand. Their witness of word, conduct, and love was often perfected in martyrdom — the witness of blood.

The author of I Peter, thought by many to be the "big fisherman" of Galilee, was directing his letter to Gentile Christians chiefly, particularly those in the northern part of Asia Minor. It was really an "encyclical" letter such as the Apostle Paul wrote to the churches in Galatia — one written to be read in a number of congregations. Many scholars believe that Peter himself could not have written this epistle because it reflects conditions that existed only after his martyrdom in A. D. 64. Again, more important than authorship is the purpose and content.

Loyal Citizens

The gist of the message from the Scripture passages selected is to urge the Christians to be loyal citizens even though they must suffer for it. They must remain firm unto death and die for their faith if needs be. And this proved to be a flaming path of victory for those who endured for Christ's sake. The Book opens with an ascription of praise to God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. In it the Christians are reminded that they have been "born anew" to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead.

Following this statement comes the heart of the lesson — how to rejoice through suffering and tribulation. The audacity of Christians about to be tortured or needlessly slaughtered and their almost joyous acceptance of their trials became the wonder of the pagan world. God had a purpose in permitting those early persecutions. As we learned some months ago, "The blood of the martyrs was the seed of the Church."

Faith is the source of power in times of affliction and persecution. But that faith must be tested, too, to see if it is genuine. Fortunately for the strength and growth of the Church, God's faithful met their trials quietly and triumphantly. It is not the suffering itself which witnesses to the power of faith, but the manner or disposition in which it is endured. "Not every martyrdom is a victory for the church, but only those which are genuine and pure."

Uninterested Observer?
Was Saul affected by the death of Stephen by stoning, or was he merely an uninterested observer? At the time he probably considered it a just punishment, but that scene engraved itself permanently on his conscience. He lived to regret, no doubt, that he made no effort to curb the mob violence which caused it. How could he forget Stephen's last words?

The blood of the martyrs in the Roman arena brought many a Roman guard into the Christian faith. We who live in a free land with religious liberty for all cannot really comprehend what martyrdom means. We have never been called on to test our faith. Comfortable homes, plenty of food and clothes, countless opportunities, all these are accepted as our just lot in life. Have we ever had to choose our words carefully, knowing that if we admitted being Christians, our lives would be in danger? Twentieth century Christians of Europe and Asia have learned to suffer and endure for Christ's sake. Many have been imprisoned, gassed, faced a firing squad because they were Christians. All those have suffered for well doing, not for evil doing.

"Purity Of Martyrdom"
One writer has explained the attitude of a Christian toward the government over him in this way: "It is first of all essential to genuineness and purity of martyrdom that the disposition and demeanor of the martyr be free from insubordination toward the state, and the magistracy ordained by God. The Christian has to recognize at all times . . . the civil government which is over him, and to honor all its laws and ordinances . . . even when these laws and ordinances are contrary to God's Word." If he must then obey God, not man, he must willingly and patiently submit to the penalties.

Through faith in suffering evil will be overcome. The fellowship of Christians who face the same tribulations provides comfort and strength. Above all, Christians must cast their worries and anxieties upon their Lord for He cares about them.

Sunday School Lesson

By H. R. and M. C. Gold

WITNESSING THROUGH SUFFERING

I Peter 1:3-9; 5:6-11

Key Verse: Cast all your anxieties on him, for he cares about you. I Peter 5:7.

The theme of this lesson follows quite naturally that of last week. Persistently maintaining their faith through the ages Christians have not only been true to their inheritance but have demonstrated that the love of Christ and His Gospel has come first. But frequently love and suffering went hand in hand. Their witness of word, conduct, and love was often perfected in martyrdom — the witness of blood.

The author of I Peter, thought by many to be the "big fisherman" of Galilee, was directing his letter to Gentile Christians chiefly, particularly those in the northern part of Asia Minor. It was really an "encyclical" letter such as the Apostle Paul wrote to the churches in Galatia — one written to be read in a number of congregations. Many scholars believe that Peter himself could not have written this epistle because it reflects conditions that existed only after his martyrdom in A. D. 64. Again, more important than authorship is the purpose and content.

Loyal Citizens

The gist of the message from the Scripture passages selected is to urge the Christians to be loyal citizens even though they must suffer for it. They must remain firm unto death and die for their faith if needs be. And this proved to be a flaming path of victory for those who endured for Christ's sake. The Book opens with an ascription of praise to God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. In it the Christians are reminded that they have been "born anew" to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead.

Following this statement comes the heart of the lesson — how to rejoice through suffering and tribulation. The audacity of Christians about to be tortured or needlessly slaughtered and their almost joyous acceptance of their trials became the wonder of the pagan world. God had a purpose in permitting those early persecutions. As we learned some months ago, "The blood of the martyrs is the seed of the Church."

Faith is the source of power in times of affliction and persecution. But that faith must be tested, too, to see if it is genuine. Fortunately for the strength and growth of the Church, God's faithful met their trials quietly and triumphantly. It is not the suffering itself which witnesses to the power of faith, but the manner or disposition in which it is endured. "Not every martyrdom is a victory for the church, but only those which are genuine and pure."

Uninterested Observer?

Was Saul affected by the death of Stephen by stoning, or was he merely an uninterested observer? At the time he probably considered it a just punishment, but that scene engraved itself permanently on his conscience. He lived to regret, no doubt, that he made no effort to curb the mob violence which caused it. How could he forget Stephen's last words?

The blood of the martyrs in the Roman arena brought many a Roman guard into the Christian faith. We who live in a free land with religious liberty for all cannot really comprehend what martyrdom means. We have never been called on to test our faith. Comfortable homes, plenty of food and clothes, countless opportunities; all these are accepted as our just lot in life. Have we ever had to choose our words carefully, knowing that if we admitted being Christians, our lives would be in danger? Twentieth century Christians of Europe and Asia have learned to suffer and endure for Christ's sake. Many have been imprisoned, gassed, faced a firing squad because they were Christians. All those have suffered for well doing, not for evil doing.

"Purity Of Martyrdom"

One writer has explained the attitude of a Christian toward the government over him in this way: "It is first of all essential to genuineness and purity of martyrdom, that the disposition and demeanor of the martyr be free from insubordination toward the state, and the magistracy ordained by God. The Christian has to recognize at all times . . . the civil government which is over him, and to honor all its laws and ordinances . . . even when these laws and ordinances are contrary to God's Word." If he must then obey God, not man, he must willingly and patiently submit to the penalties.

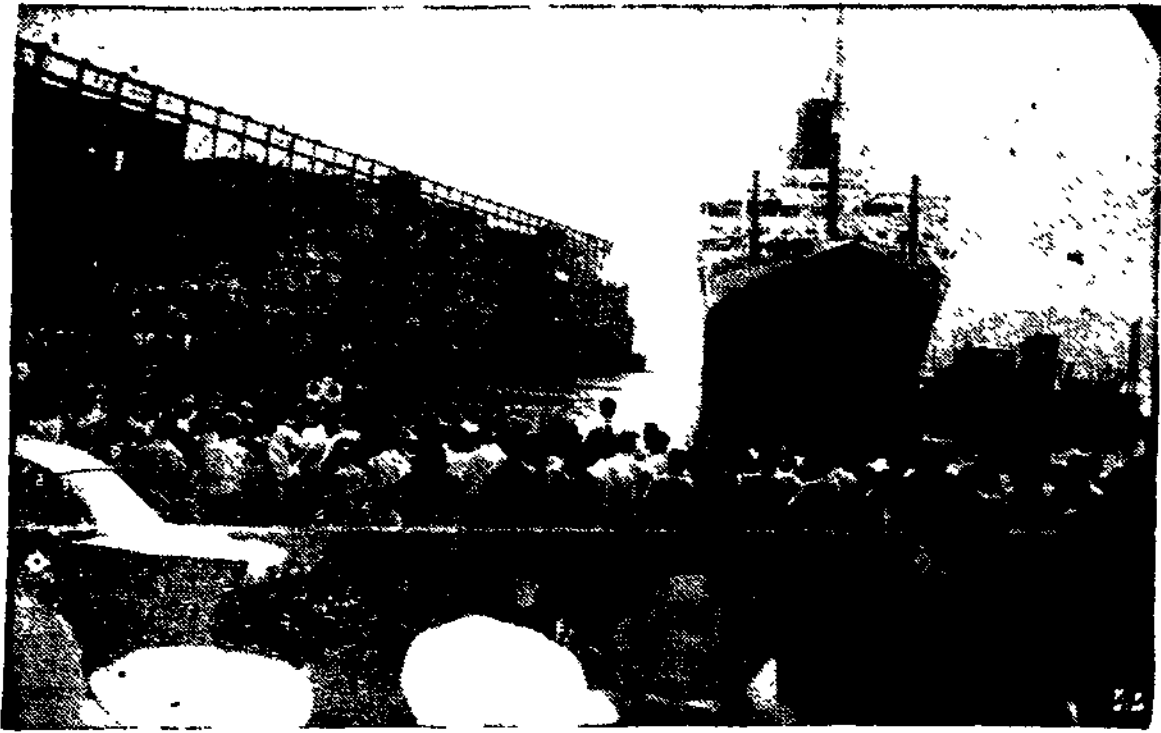

Through faith in suffering evil will be overcome. The fellowship of Christians who face the same tribulations provides comfort and strength. Above all, Christians must cast their worries and anxieties upon their Lord for He cares about them.

STASSEN'S ACT IRKS PRESIDENT

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was described by several congressional Republicans today as irritated by Harold E. Stassen's continuing efforts to dump Vice President Nixon.

However, GOP lawmakers who professed to know something about the President's attitude toward his disarming aide's anti-Nixon campaign said they do not expect Stassen to be fired.

One senator said the President was determined not to make a political "martyr" out of Stassen by dismissing him. This legislator said he expects Stassen to retain his White House job until after the election but not much longer.

Did Not Sanction Move

A second GOP senator said he understands the President has said he did not sanction in advance Stassen's proposal that Nixon be supplanted by Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts.

Two other Republicans said they do not think Eisenhower will speak out on the matter until an expected White House news conference next week.

If Eisenhower follows his usual course then they said they expect him to reaffirm his confidence in Nixon with little more than an implied rebuke to Stassen.

Nixon smilingly declined comment on Stassen's announced move to take a new professional poll of public sentiment on potential vice presidential nominees.

Until the new poll is completed about a week hence, Stassen said, he will "make no adverse comment about any Republican."

Mrs. Mary Oeder, 68, R. 1, Jeannette, St. Vincent's Hospital.

Julia Grego, 47, Uniontown, St. Clare's Hospital, fractured spine.

NAMED ASSOCIATE COUNSEL

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Insurance Department Thursday named Charles V. Walsh, Hatboro, as associate counsel.

He succeeded James Freight, who received $5,990 in the post. Walsh's salary has yet to be fixed.

Water Projects Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $1,600,000,000 water projects authorization bill was passed Thursday by the Senate by a voice vote. It would authorize future construction of numerous flood control, navigation, power and beach erosion projects by army engineers.

The projects cannot be built, however, until Congress appropriates the money to pay for them in some instances this probably won't be done for years.

The Senate added about 250 million dollars worth of projects to the bill passed earlier this week by the House. The measure now will go to a House-Senate Conference Committee to adjust the differences. In the past the House generally has accepted the Senate amendments to such bills.

Get Low Bids At Huntingdon

HARRISBURG (AP) — The General State Authority Thursday received these unofficial low bids for improvements at the Pennsylvania Institution for Defective Delinquents at Huntingdon:

General construction for new bathhouse: Paul E. Hickes, Alexandria, Pa., $86,750.

Called To Hinge Project

It was while he was working as a member of the Interstate Commerce Board in Washington, D. C., in 1925, that he received a telegram from his old friend, Albert Johnson, then living in Chicago, asking him to take charge of "some building improvements in Death Valley Calif."

Thompson accepted the offer because "it had a strong appeal to me." He was granted a year's leave of absence and later accompanied the Johnsons to Death Valley.

"Johnson was believed to be worth 60 million dollars at that time," said Thompson. He was the owner of the National Life Insurance Company of Chicago. He had suffered a broken back in a railroad accident in 1899 and wanted to get west to rough it in order to regain his strength.

Desert Companion

His desert companion was Walter Scott, well-remembered as a cowboy in Buffalo Bill's Wild West show from 1890 to 1902, who had been widely billed as "Death Valley Scotty." He had punched cattle, skinned mules and prospected in Nevada and California in earlier days and was familiar with the region. The Johnsons had the money and Scotty provided the publicity for the castle in the desert which was, in the end, to cost over a million dollars and to take six years to build.

"When I arrived at Death Valley," Thompson said, "some improvements had already been made on the Grapevine Canyon site in Upper Death Valley." He referred to a large, two-story box-like stucco building about 40 x 150 feet which had been used as a hide-away camp and storage room by Scotty and Johnson. There was an L-shaped garage about 250 feet long near the other building. Thompson used the front end of the garage for his office and living quarters for six years, spending only a few weeks each summer on vacation.

Memories Of Stanford

Asked where he got the inspiration for the architectural detail, he said he remembered "the long corridors and stately arches" of Stanford University. Mrs. Johnson added some details as she had an artistic talent. Johnson was more of a business man than anything and had few ideas to contribute by way of design. Scotty, who appreciated the idea of a building which would be away-from-it-all, was not creative. The castle, when finished, would be a perfect place of seclusion for the Johnsons and their friend, Scotty.

Six years later the old rectangular building had been transformed into a million-dollar palace containing about 30 rooms. The valley terrain is about 140 miles long and about 5 or 10 miles wide and rests on an old lake bed surrounded by mountains. The castle, at an elevation of 3,200 feet above sea level, is four miles up from the floor of Death Valley, the lowest spot in the United States. From a spot called Dante's View one can look into the bottom of Death Valley and up to the top of Mt. Whitney, the highest point in the United States. The nearest town is Tonopah, Nev., 56 miles away.

No Phones In Mansion

There were no phones in the mansion because the Johnsons didn't want to be disturbed. However, thousands of people came to visit the place while construction was underway. They were given hospitality, fed and bedded and sometimes their cars were repaired and they were given gasoline without charge. But when the castle was almost finished the Johnsons erected a sign saying "The castle is closed. Positively no admittance." Later on the place was open to tourists at one dollar a tour.

It was during the last few months of construction of Scotty's castle that, among the thousands of visitors, he met his present wife, much younger than himself, Ivah Thaxton. They were married and spent their honeymoon in the finished castle as guests of the Johnsons. Mrs. Thompson has accompanied her husband on all his travels since then and is with him in Gettysburg this week. They are on a four months tour of the country by bus.

Water was piped from the springs a mile up the canyon and an immense solar-heater was designed and built to supply hot water for the half dozen kitchens and the dozen beautifully tiled bathrooms. Ties from the abandoned Tonopah and T. Deader R. Road were purchased for the 18 fireplaces . . . to last for 150 years.

Uncompleted Pool

A huge pipe organ was installed and Austrian wood-carvers were brought in to carve the beautiful and intricate interior beams and wood finish. Some of the furnishings were bought by the Johnsons on a trip abroad. A large swimming pool in front of the castle remains unfinished.

Johnson intended to complete the construction some day. He wrote to Thompson while the latter was on a military engineering project in Okinawa in 1947 asking him about it. When the latter returned to the states he visited Johnson at his Hollywood home. However, the castle owner passed away in January, 1948, without having recovered his strength long enough to resume work on the project. Johnson's wife met a tragic death in 1941 in an automobile. They had no children.

Thompson and Walter Scott remained friends through the years although the latter thought the palace "all too fancy for an old desert rat like me."

Room For "Scotty"

When Johnson died in 1948 it was disclosed that he had bequeathed the castle and other holdings to a non-profit religious organization, the Gospel Foundation of California, with the provision that Walter Scott was to be provided with a home as long as he lived. All the profits from tourists were to be used for charitable purposes.

One of the finer rooms was reserved for Scotty but there is a legend that he never slept in it. When there were too many visitors at the castle he crept away to a little cabin a mile and a half from the larger building and there lived alone until a crippled foot made it necessary for him to spend nine weeks in a hospital at Las Vegas. Afterwards he returned to the castle where he occupied a back room. He died in 1954 and was buried on a knoll in back of the castle. A monument was erected to his memory there by the "49ers Association of California." It is topped with a bronze wide-brimmed Stetson hat which was Scotty's distinguishing feature all through his life. Governor Knight of California dedicated the memorial.

Thompson, who has been associated with Holmes and Narver, Inc., engineers and constructors, Los Angeles, is retired but says he is "on call" if his firm needs him. Over 80 he is a fine figure of a man, tall, broad-shouldered with white hair and white mustache.

Employed By Railroad

He served with the University Land Company in 1897 and later became assistant state engineer at Olympia, Wash., where he remained for four years. Then he was employed by the Northern Pacific Railroad from 1901 until 1907.

One of his more interesting projects was serving as chief engineer and manager of construction for the late Major Edward Bowes, famous radio amateur hour director, and John H. Sprung, of San Francisco, who sought his help in laying out their fabulous land site in Thousands Oaks, Berkeley, Calif.

In 1913 he was county engineer for Pierce County, Washington state, for two years and was with the state highway department for two years. He was employed as evaluation engineer with Northern Pacific in 1917 which led finally to his Washington position in 1924-25 with the Interstate Commerce Commission when he received the telegram from Johnson.

Visits Father's Site

Mr. Thompson's children are: Comdr. Matthew R. Thompson, U. S. Navy Reserves, professor at Oregon College of Education; Ralph E. Thompson, vice president of the Jersey Central Railroad; Hugh O'H. Thompson, professor at the Washington College of Education; Mrs. Leonard J. Littrell, Denver, and Mrs. Boyd W. Brock, Hillsboro, Oregon, a teacher.

Wednesday afternoon Thompson was taken to the site of the two 8th Illinois' markers on the Battle-field, where his father fought. He was also taken to the site of the small marker on Lincoln Highway West, at the entrance to the Knox-Lyn Road. This stone memorial marks the spot where Jones, of the 8th Illinois, fired the first shot in the Battle of Gettysburg, at 7:30 a.m. July 1, 1863.

Thompson feels strongly that the site should be better preserved and marked as a historic site and an attraction to the thousands of visitors who come here each year.

The distinguished visitor was one of the organizers of the first Alpha Tau Omega fraternity at Stanford University in 1891. Several years later it was disbanded and later a second chapter was organized.

STASSEN'S ACT IRKS PRESIDENT

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was described by several congressional Republicans today as irritated by Harold E. Stassen's continuing efforts to dump Vice President Nixon.

However, GOP lawmakers who professed to know something about the President's attitude toward his disarming aide's anti-Nixon campaign said they do not expect Stassen to be fired.

One senator said the President was determined not to make a political "martyr" out of Stassen by dismissing him. This legislator said he expects Stassen to retain his White House job until after the election but not much longer.

Did Not Sanction Move
A second GOP senator said he understood the President has said he did not sanction in advance Stassen's proposal that Nixon be supplanted by Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts.

Two other Republicans said they do not think Eisenhower will speak out on the matter until an expected White House news conference next week.

If Eisenhower follows his usual course then they said they expect him to reaffirm his confidence in Nixon with little more than an implied rebuke to Stassen.

Nixon smilingly declined comment on Stassen's announced move to take a new professional poll of public sentiment on potential vice presidential nominees.

Until the new poll is completed about a week hence, Stassen said, he will "make no adverse comment about any Republican."

NAMED ASSOCIATE COUNSEL

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Insurance Department Thursday named Charles V. Walsh, Hatboro, as associate counsel.

He succeeded James Freight, who received $6,990 in the post. Walsh's salary has yet to be fixed.

Water Projects Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $1,600,000 water projects authorization bill was passed Thursday by the Senate by a voice vote. It would authorize future construction of numerous flood control, navigation, power and beach erosion projects by army engineers.

The projects cannot be built, however, until Congress appropriates the money to pay for them. In some instances this probably won't be done for years.

The Senate added about 250 million dollars worth of projects to the bill passed earlier this week by the House. The measure now will go to a House-Senate Conference Committee to adjust the differences. In the past the House generally has accepted the Senate amendments to such bills.

Get Low Bids At Huntingdon

HARRISBURG (AP)—The General State Authority Thursday received these unofficial low bids for improvements at the Pennsylvania Institution for Defective Delinquents at Huntingdon:

Plumbing in connection with improvements to five wards: H.I. Lewis Construction Co., Middletown, $498,162; electrical, Electrical Contractors Associates, Inc., Altoona, $43,925.

General construction for new bathhouse: Paul E. Hickes, Alexandria, Pa., $86,750.

Matt went to high school in Tacoma and entered Rose Polytechnic at Terre Haute, Ind., in 1890. He entered Stanford in 1891 where former President Herbert Hoover was a fellow-student. These years gave him the equivalent of a full college course in engineering.

Called To Huge Project

It was while he was working as a member of the Interstate Commerce board in Washington, D. C., in 1925, that he received a telegram from his old friend, Albert Johnson, then living in Chicago, asking him to take charge of "some building improvements in Death Valley Calif."

Thompson accepted the offer because "it had a strong appeal to me." He was granted a year's leave of absence and later accompanied the Johnsons to Death Valley.

"Johnson was believed to be worth 60 million dollars at that time," said Thompson. He was the owner of the National Life Insurance Company of Chicago. He had suffered a broken back in a railroad accident in 1899 and wanted to get well to rough it in order to regain his strength.

TITANIC WORST SHIP DISASTER IN PEACETIME

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The outstanding peacetime ship disaster in recent history was the sinking of the Titanic in 1912.
The Titanic, on her maiden voyage, struck an iceberg and sank, taking a toll of 1,517, many of them prominent in the world's business and social life.
The same year, 1,000 people lost their lives when the Japanese steamship Kikkomaru sank off the coast of Japan.
Two years later 1,024 were lost when the Canadian Pacific steamship Empress of Ireland sank after colliding with a Danish collier in the St. Lawrence River. Another 1,000 lives were lost in 1916 when the Chinese steamer Hain Yu sank off the China coast.
China Is Scene Of Wrecks
Some of the biggest disasters have been off the China coast. The steamer Hong Kong hit a rock near Swatow, China, in 1921 and 1,200 died.
Six thousand Chinese, including government troops, died when a crowded evacuation ship sank off southern Manchuria in November 1948.
Since World War II, the greatest loss of life, some 1,300, was when a Japanese ferry capsized during a typhoon. Another two to three hundred were lost early this year as the result of the sinking of a

STATE TO PAY OVERDUE FUNDS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader Thursday ordered payment of 37 million dollars of overdue state subsidies.
The money will go to school districts for transportation of pupils, to medical schools and universities and to community hospitals and homes across the state.
Leader said in a statement that distribution of the state checks should be completed within a week or 10 days.
Breakdown Of Payments
A total of $14,200,000 will go to school district for transportation of pupils. Budget Secretary Andrew Bradley said the payment is the first for transportation during the 1955-56 school year and will bring all districts up to date.
The breakdown of the other payments:
Medical schools, $4,200,000; universities and colleges, 12 million; other educational institutions, $500,000; Welfare Department hospitals and homes, $6,100,000.
Distribution of most state subsidies was delayed because of the long fight in the 1955-56 Legislature over a tax program.

Miniature Train Upsets; 25 Injured

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A miniature train carrying a group of picknicking women of the First Baptist Church around an amusement park upset on a curve Wednesday night, injuring 25 of them, none seriously.
Three women were admitted to Memorial Hospital. Others were discharged after treatment or treated at the scene.
The mishap occurred at Sunnybrook Park near here.
The operator of the train, Robert Hartenstein, son of park owner Ray Hartenstein, said recent rains may have weakened the roadbed, causing the derailment.
Admitted to the hospital were Mrs. Catherine Strickland, who suffered a fractured wrist; Mrs. Maxaline Korch, internal injuries, and Mrs. Elizabeth Houck, multiple lacerations. Mrs. Korch is from Gilbertsville, R.D., the other two from Pottstown.
Pass Compromise Foreign Aid Bill
WASHINGTON (AP)—The House quickly passed and sent to the Senate Thursday a compromise bill appropriating $3,766,570,000 in new funds for the foreign aid program.
The bill cleared the House by almost unanimous voice vote.
The compromise was hammered out in conference after the Senate and House disagreed on how much money was needed during the fiscal year which started July 1 to help friendly nations get on their feet economically and militarily.
She broke into tears twice while recounting some of the details of her stormy marriage to Harry Karl, 48, whom she accused of cruelty.

TO OPEN FIRST FORESTRY CAMP FOR JUVENILES

HARRISBURG (AP)—The state's first forestry camp for the rehabilitation of youths committed to state training schools will open in Beaver County in about a month.
The Department of Forests and Waters said today work has already started toward setting up a tent camp for about 20 to 25 boys at Raccoon State Park in the southwest corner of the county.
"The placement of facilities depends largely on the weather but we expect to be rolling 100 per cent right after Labor Day," said William Mail, head of the department's Recreation Division.
Mail described the camp as a "pilot project" and said no others are presently planned. The Raccoon Park Camp is a joint project of the Department of Forests and Waters and the Welfare Department.
Authorized By Legislature
Establishment of forestry conservation camps was authorized by 1955-56 Legislature. The law provides for sending youths 15-18 to the sites for work on conservation, recreation, dam or flood control projects.
The camps are designed for the rehabilitation, re-education, treatment and training of youths committed to state training schools.
Richard Farrow, head of the Welfare Department's phase of the program, said the first group of boys to inhabit the new camp will come from the Pennsylvania State School at Morgantown.

TITANIC WORST SHIP DISASTER IN PEACETIME

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The outstanding peacetime ship disaster in recent history was the sinking of the Titanic in 1912.
The Titanic, on her maiden voyage, struck an iceberg and sank, taking a toll of 1,517, many of them prominent in the world's business and social life.
The same year, 1,000 people lost their lives when the Japanese steamship Kikkomaru sank off the coast of Japan.
Two years later 1,024 were lost when the Canadian Pacific steamship Empress of Ireland sank after colliding with a Danish collier in the St. Lawrence River. Another 1,000 lives were lost in 1916 when the Chinese steamer Hain Yu sank off the China coast.
China Is Scene Of Wrecks
Some of the biggest disasters have been off the China coast. The steamer Hong Kong hit a rock near Swatow, China, in 1921 and 1,200 died.
Six thousand Chinese, including government troops, died when a crowded evacuation ship sank off southern Manchuria in November 1948.
Since World War II, the greatest loss of life, some 1,300, was when a Japanese ferry capsized during a typhoon. Another two to three hundred were lost early this year as the result of the sinking of a

STATE TO PAY OVERDUE FUNDS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader Thursday ordered payment of 37 million dollars of overdue state subsidies.
The money will go to school districts for transportation of pupils, to medical schools and universities and to community hospitals and homes across the state.
Leader said in a statement that distribution of the state checks should be completed within a week or 10 days.
Breakdown Of Payments
A total of $14,200,000 will go to school district for transportation of pupils. Budget Secretary Andrew Bradley said the payment is the first for transportation during the 1955-56 school year and will bring all districts up to date.
The breakdown of the other payments:
Medical schools, $4,200,000; universities and colleges, 12 million; other educational institutions, $500,000; Welfare Department hospitals and homes, $5,100,000.
Distribution of most state subsidies was delayed because of the long fight in the 1955-56 Legislature over a tax program.

Miniature Train Upsets; 25 Injured

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A miniature train carrying a group of picnicking women of the First Baptist Church around an amusement park upset on a curve Wednesday night, injuring 25 of them, none seriously.
Three women were admitted to Memorial Hospital. Others were discharged after treatment or treated at the scene.
The mishap occurred at Sunnybrook Park near here.
The operator of the train, Robert Hartenstein, son of park owner Ray Hartenstein, said recent rains may have weakened the roadbed, causing the derailment.
Admitted to the hospital were Mrs. Catherine Strickland, who suffered a fractured wrist; Mrs. Maxaline Korch, internal injuries, and Mrs. Elizabeth Houck, multiple lacerations. Mrs. Korch is from Gilbertsville, R.D., the other two from Pottstown.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House quickly passed and sent to the Senate Thursday a compromise bill appropriating $3,766,570,000 in new funds for the foreign aid program.
The bill cleared the House by almost unanimous voice vote.
The compromise was hammered out in conference after the Senate and House disagreed on how much money was needed during the fiscal year which started July 1 to help friendly nations get on their feet economically and militarily.
She broke into tears twice while recounting some of the details of her stormy marriage to Harry Karl, 48, whom she accused of cruelty.

TO OPEN FIRST FORESTRY CAMP FOR JUVENILES

HARRISBURG (AP)—The state's first forestry camp for the rehabilitation of youths committed to state training schools will open in Beaver County in about a month.
The Department of Forests and Waters said today work has already started toward setting up a tent camp for about 20 to 25 boys at Raccoon State Park in the southwest corner of the county.
"The placement of facilities depends largely on the weather but we expect to be rolling 100 per cent right after Labor Day," said William Mall, head of the department's Recreation Division.
Mall described the camp as a "pilot project" and said no others are presently planned. The Raccoon Park Camp is a joint project of the Department of Forests and Waters and the Welfare Department.
Authorized By Legislature
Establishment of forestry conservation camps was authorized by 1955-56 Legislature. The law provides for sending youths 15-18 to the sites for work on conservation, recreation, dam or flood control projects.

The camps are designed for the rehabilitation, re-education, treatment and training of youths committed to state training schools.
Richard Farrow, head of the Welfare Department's phase of the program, said the first group of boys to inhabit the new camp will come from the Pennsylvania State School at Morgantown.

Fund Raising Along With Eagles Women In U. S. Is Local Project

Starting with 177 charter members, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles of Gettysburg have spent most of the group's energy in money-raising for the Damon Runyon Cancer fund and for the fight against muscular dystrophy, since their origin June 11, 1950. Strangely, 177 members are still the figure for membership in the Auxiliary, although the current 177 is not the original 177 members.

Given a good cause these 177 work to the limit of their resources in joining the fight against two of the most deadly enemies and dread diseases, cancer and muscular dystrophy. The auxiliary uses card parties as their medium for increasing their contribution to national-wide campaign. Simultaneously, all over the country all Eagles Auxiliaries are working for the same cause using perhaps different methods to increase the cancer and dystrophy funds as dinners, sewing or knitting projects, sales, tag days or active cooperation with local muscular dystrophy association and cancer association projects.

The first meeting of the auxiliary was held June 11, 1950, a Sunday afternoon, at the Eagles Home, Chambersburg St., with Francis N. Kiefer, Lancaster, as the instituting officer, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Bender, of Gettysburg.

First Officers
The first officers were: Past president, Margaret Bender; President, Etzel Bucher; vice president, Ellen Clabaugh; chaplain, Violet Smith; secretary, Sara Louise Riggs; Treasurer, Gladys Sprankle; conductress, Florence Yings; inside guard, Anna Gardner; outside guard, Ruth Witherow; trustee for three years, Bertha Smear; two-year trustee, Ruth Claver; one-year trustee, Nevelle Herring.

The auxiliary is regulated by rules and an international ritual set up by the Grand Aerie. These rules govern auxiliary units all over the world. The local unit is a member of the County Home auxiliary and the Women's Civic Council. Meetings are held twice a month, on the first and third Thursdays. A business session is usually followed by a social hour when the ladies play cards, bingo or some similar game, and refreshments are served.

Conduct Annual Events
Among the group's annual events are the annual turkey banquet in November for all members; and the annual picnic in August for members and guests. This year the picnic will be held at the OCC camp, W. Confederate Ave. State officers were also entertained by the local unit at their April 29 meeting. At the same meeting the Coatesville Auxiliary produced their minstrel show.

Committees composing the organization of the unit include: investigating committee, which examines membership; delinquent committee, for overdue finances; finance committee; visiting committee for those members who are ill; publicity and bylaws committee.

Another tradition of the auxiliary is the choosing of an auxiliary mother, selected each year by the president. She is honored by auxiliary members each year on Mothers' Day with a club tribute and flowers.

Present Officers
Eagle Auxiliaries all over the country have been preparing for the fifth annual convention on July 26-29 in Pittsburgh.

Current officers of the organization are: Past president, Beatrice Cluck; president, Rose Anzengruber; vice president, Ellen Clabaugh; chaplain, Pauline Wright; secretary, Sara Singley; treasurer, Marie Little; conductress, Florence Yings; inside guard, Bessie Wright; outside guard, Esther Hayberger; three-year trustee, Martha Strassbaugh; two-year, Ethel Bucher; one-year trustee, Violet Smith. Fund Raising Along With Eagles Women In U.S. Is Local Project

Starting with 177 charter members, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles of Gettysburg have spent most of the group's energy in money-raising for the Damon Runyon Cancer fund and for the fight against muscular dystrophy, since their origin June 31, 1950. Strangely, 177 members are still the figure for membership in the Auxiliary, although the current 177 is not the original 177 members.

Given a good cause these 177 work to the limit of their resources in joining the fight against two of the most deadly enemies and dread diseases, cancer and muscular dystrophy. The auxiliary uses card parties as their medium for increasing their contribution to national-wide campaign. Simultaneously, all over the country all Eagles Auxiliaries are working for the same cause using perhaps different methods to increase the cancer and dystrophy funds as dinners, sewing or knitting projects, sales, tag days or active cooperation with local muscular dystrophy association and cancer association projects.

The first meeting of the auxiliary was held June 11, 1950, a Sunday afternoon, at the Eagles Home, Chambersburg St., with Francis N. Kiefer, Lancaster, as the instituting officer, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Bender, of Gettysburg.

First Officers
The first officers were: Past president, Margaret Bender; President, Ethel Bucher; vice president, Ellen Clabaugh; chaplain, Violet Smith; secretary, Sara Louise Riggs; Treasurer, Gladys Sprankle; conductress, Florence Yungst; inside guard, Anna Gardner; outside guard, Ruth Withrow; trustee for three years, Ruth Cleaver; two-year trustee, Bertha Small; one-year trustee, Nevelle Herring.

The auxiliary is regulated by rules and an international ritual set up by the Grand Aerie. These rules govern auxiliary units all over the world. The local unit is a member of the County Home auxiliary and the Women's Civic Council. Meetings are held twice a month, on the first and third Thursdays. A business session is usually followed by a social hour when the ladies play cards, bingo or some similar game, and refreshments are served.

Conduct Annual Events
Among the group's annual events are the annual turkey banquet in November for all members; and the annual picnic in August for members and guests. This year the picnic will be held at the CCC camp, W. Confederate Ave. State officers were also entertained by the local unit at their April 29 meeting. At the same meeting the Coatesville Auxiliary produced their minstrel show.

Committees composing the organization of the unit include: investigating committee, which examines membership; delinquent committee, for overdue finances; finance committee; visiting committee for those members who are ill; publicity and bylaws committee.

Another tradition of the auxiliary is the choosing of an auxiliary mother, selected each year by the president. She is honored by auxiliary members each year on Mothers' Day with a club tribute and flowers.

Present Officers
Eagle Auxiliaries all over the country have been preparing for the fifth annual convention on July 26-29 in Pittsburgh.

Current officers of the organization are: Past president, Beatrice Cluck; president, Rose Amengrub; vice president, Ellen Clabaugh; chaplain, Pauline Wright; secretary, Sara Singley; treasurer, Marie Little; conductress, Florence Yungst; inside guard, Bessie Wright; outside guard, Esther Hayberger; three-year trustee, Martha Strassbaugh; two-year, Ethel Bucher; one-year trustee, Violet Smith. WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate Postoffice subcommittee Thursday killed the administration's postal rate increase bill for this session of congress.

Chairman Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) announced the five-member group had decided unanimously it could not complete hearings on the bill and act on it before adjournment.

The House passed the measure.
